Proposals to change set-up at school site

MAJOR changes are in the pipeline at Oswestry School but will only go ahead if endorsed by parents.

The school is considering moving its youngest children back to the school, leaving Bellan House as a potential sixth form.

But the head of the independent school said the changes would only go ahead if parents agreed.

At the moment the primary school pupils are educated in the former grand town house in Church Street in the middle of Oswestry, about half a mile from the main school complex.

"These ideas are due to go to a governors' meeting for consideration," said head-teacher Douglas Robb.

"However, I must stress that, the changes would only take place with the blessing of the parents.

"Numbers at Bellan are growing and because of this the building is beginning to show its limitations. My idea is to see the preparatory children back at Quarry House where they were originally."

Mr Robb said one idea was to use Bellan House as a sixth form centre.

"There is no question of closing the building. I want to make that clear. Oswestry School has been at Bellan House for 35 years this year and we will be celebrating that anniversary," he added.

VW fans will flock to show

ENTHUSIASTS from all over the country will be descending on Oswestry this weekend for the annual Bus Types VW Show at the Park Hall Showground.

The Saturday and Sunday event will bring together some of the UK's best VW buses with an array of split screens, bay windows, T25s, T4s and T5s.

The 2012 event was the busiest in history with thousands of visitors passing through the gates, plus over 180 trade stands selling new parts, spare parts and memorabilia.

MEASLES OUTBREAK HITS HIGH SCHOOL

A SCHOOL near Oswestry has been hit by a measles outbreak, it has been revealed.

Llanfyllin High School today confirmed health teams had visited to offer vaccinations to students and advice to parents after a number of cases were reported. They are due to visit again next week.

The news comes as health bosses revealed that one in four teenagers in Mid Wales are not fully protected against measles.

Health bosses in the region today urged parents to make sure their children were vaccinated.

An epidemic in south Wales has seen more than 700 people report they have measles.

Powys Teaching Local Health Board said 41 cases of measles had been notified during March, mainly in the north of the county. Twenty cases had been notified in the past week.

A spokesman said: "Most of these have been in children of school age, where the disease can spread easily, but people of all ages can be affected."

"Measles is a serious disease that can lead to long term health issues such as eye disorders, deafness, brain damage and even death."

"It is very important that everyone is vaccinated against this disease."

"One dose of the MMR (measles, mumps and rubella) jab will protect 90 per cent of children and the recommended two doses of MMR jab will provide 99 per cent protection against measles. The MMR jab is safe and offers the only protection against measles."

"In Powys one in four teenagers have not had two MMR jabs and are not fully protected against measles."

A Llanfyllin High School spokeswoman said: "We had six or seven cases before Easter and that triggered a visit by the School Health Service to come to offer vaccinations and give advice to parents.

by Graham Breeze

"The service came on the last day of term before the Easter holidays and gave vaccinations to those pupils whose parents had given consent."

"At the moment we have four or five children off with measles and the School Health Service is due to come back to offer more vaccinations next Tuesday."

About 20 secondary school children in the Oswestry area have suspected measles, the Director of Public Health for Shropshire confirmed.

But Professor Rod Thomson said that the county had a far higher than the national average per cent of children who were immunised against measles and said that with sensible infection control measures, there should not be a repeat of the number of cases that have swept Wales.

He said the children who had the symptoms were at schools in Wales but either lived in Shropshire or were registered with GPs in the Oswestry area.

Glyn Davies, Conservative MP, said: "It is vitally important that people, especially children, who have not received the MMR vaccination do so in order to combat the outbreak as quickly and as effectively as possible."

Jane lands a really tasty job

Hospital worker Jane Ballinger is enjoying the sweet taste of victory after beating more than 77,000 chocolate lovers from around the country to win a new role as the 'Honorary Cadbury Taster'.

JANE Ballinger is enjoying the sweet taste of victory after beating over 77,000 chocolate lovers from around the country to win a new role as the 'Honorary Cadbury Taster'.

Her benefits package will include designing a handful of unique Cadbury Dairy Milk bars as well as a year's supply of chocolate. And her job - to taste all the new Cadbury chocolate products before they hit the shelves.

Jane, 45, who works as a healthcare records supervisor at Robert Jones and Agnes Hunt Orthopaedic Hospital in Oswestry, won the role by coming up with a new word to describe the company's chocolate.

Cadbury challenged the nation to invent a new word to define the taste of Dairy Milk, a countrywide search kick-started by Claudia Winkleman and Brian Blessed.

Her winning word, 'Aboveryicious', was chosen for its creativity and originality, landing her the tastiest role in the country.

Dream

She said: "I grew up on the Wirral and we would pass the Cadbury factory there and smell the chocolate. Now living in the Ceiriog Valley I still have that lovely smell from the factory in Chirk. This is my childhood dream coming true."

She added: "Part of the prize is a year's supply of chocolate. When I told the company that I would be donating some of the chocolate to raise funds for the Bone Cancer Appeal at the Orthopaedic, staff at Cadbury instead donated an enormous hamper of chocolate towards the fundraising."

"I have always been interested in the history of Cadbury as a philanthropic Quaker company. Today it still has a very ethical spirit."

Jane was treated to a tour of the factory in Bournville, Birmingham, on Wednesday. "I was taken behind the scenes and shown areas where members of the public are not allowed. I honestly felt like Charlie in Willy Wonka."

Hayley Sosnovik, for the chocolate company, said: "Jane has the nation's favourite aboveryicious taste of Cadbury Dairy Milk and we couldn't have wished for a better person to join our team."

Car parks see drop in number of tickets

MOTORISTS using car parks in Oswestry town centre have dropped by six per cent over the past year with a bad winter and some stores closing blamed for the fall in numbers.

Almost 50,000 fewer tickets were issued in car parks in the town during 2012/13, new figures have revealed.

Oswestry Town Council, which runs the Central, Smithfield and Horsemarket car parks, says it is working hard to encourage more people to visit the centre. Initiatives include an animal sculpture trail being created to promote events at the outdoor and indoor markets.

Roger Dyke, the council's finance officer, said there were 775,949 tickets issued for the car parks, a drop of 49,138 on the previous year - a six per cent fall.

He said that there had been a five per cent decrease in those using the car parks for up to an hour and a four per cent decrease in people using the car parks for between one and two hours.

The number staying for between two to four hours had fallen by 13 per cent and four to six hours by 30 per cent.

Councillor Gareth Jones said the recent bad weather had seen a drop in those shopping in Oswestry but he added there had been a lot of good comments about the Good Friday market and the continental market.

Five facing affray case

FIVE men have been charged with affray following an incident outside a pub on the Powys/Shropshire border.

The five, three of who have also been charged with assault, were involved in an incident outside The Dolphin Public House in Ashfield Terrace, Llanymynech, on November 16 last year.

All five will appear at Welshpool Magistrates Court on May 7.

Dyfed-Powys Police said that a number of people were assaulted at about 10.15pm.

Villagers to have a say on £1m of lotto funds

by Sue Austin

RESIDENTS from three villages are to get their say on spending £1million of Lottery money next week.

The Big Local public meeting will be held on April 24 at 7.30pm in the St Martins Methodist Chapel meeting room on the Ellesmere Road, St Martins.

Organisers say it is important that villagers from Weston Rhyn and Gobowen also go along to the meeting.

Heritage day is planned at railway yard

THE Cambrian Heritage Railways based in Oswestry will host a Heritage Classic Vehicle Extravaganza on Saturday.

Based at the Oswestry Station in Oswald Road the event will run from 11am to 4pm. Vintage lorries and motorcycles will be on show in the railway yard and there will also be a display of classic Morris Minor cars.

Trains are not forgotten. Andrew Tullio, from the railway organisation, said: "A diesel locomotive and brake van will be running in the station to give rides to visitors and there will be a free trip on a vintage bus to shuttling to and from Llynchys Station where enthusiasts can see more heritage trains."

The Museum, Gift shop and Cafe will all be open.

Canal litter pick

THE Montgomery Canal annual litter pick takes place on Saturday with volunteers asked to meet at Welshpool town wharf at 10.30am. Equipment and refreshments will be provided.

The area was awarded the cash two years ago and since then there have been a series of consultations on what is needed in the area.

But more people are needed to join the formal partnership that will work towards putting the £1 million to use.

Chairman of the delivery group Nick Heard said: "We took the first steps towards establishing the formal partnership at our March meeting, and already have a number of firm expressions of interest from people in our communities."

"The only requirements from the Big Lottery are that there must be a minimum of eight members on the partnership, and at least 51 per cent of them must live or work in our Big Local programme area."

"We expect eventually to have quite a lot more members than this."

He added: "We also want to use this meeting to start people thinking about the possibilities of 'social investment' - where we'd work with a partner organisation with financial expertise to fill the gap where commercial lenders make it difficult or expensive for individuals, small businesses or community organisations to get small loans."

The agenda is available from Community Online and from the Three Parishes Big Local co-ordinator David Boyce on 07749 786544 or e-mail d.boyce@qube-oca.org.uk

Confidence-boosting session

YOUNGSTERS have been learning how to boost their self-confidence and speaking skills in Oswestry library.

A speaking skills workshop was put on for children aged eight to 14 and was created to be a fun and interactive way for them to learn how to speak without feeling overwhelmed by nerves and sweaty palms and help them to develop a presentation style.

During the free session they were asked to recite some modern fiction and were also given the opportunity to compose a 'mini speech' and deliver it to the group.

The workshop was run by Oswestry library and businesswoman Heather Noble, of Salt Solutions, who coaches and teaches public speaking presentation skills.

Librarian Heather Rodenhurst said the workshop was fully booked with 12 young youngsters taking part.

She said: "It is quite daunting to stand in front of a group. They all managed to put a basic speech together by the end of the workshop. They all found it worth attending. It is something we hope to do as a regular event."

Cinema's ex-owner says plans too costly

THE past owner of a former Oswestry cinema claims the cost of restoring it into an arts venue would be prohibitive.

Proposals to make the old Regal Cinema in Oswestry a centre for live music, a cinema and other art events have been mooted by a group of local residents.

But Trevor Harris, who ran the Regal until the 1990s, said too many adaptations were made when it was turned into a shop.

He wants to see interest turn to former railway engineering buildings in Gobowen Road.

The cinema lost out to the multiplexes that sprang up in the 1980s and, despite converting it into a three screen cinema and then a live music venue, Mr Harris was forced to sell the building in 1996.

It then became a clothing store until last year, and when that closed, it became a YMCA charity store.

Mr Harris said he had taken an interest in talks about the future of the building.

"I have 50 years experience in the cinema world and would be more than happy to meet up with those behind the project," he said.

The old Regal cinema, in Leg Street, is on the market with Celt Rowlands & Co with an asking price of £475,000.

Floral fun at visitor centre

Hundreds fined in seatbelts campaign

ALMOST 1,000 people have been fined after being caught not wearing a seatbelt during a month-long campaign in Mid Wales.

Dyfed-Powys Police said 959 people were caught risking their lives during the All Wales Seatbelt Campaign in the force area. A further 800 were fined in other parts of Wales.

Carl Langley, Dyfed-Powys Police assistant chief constable, said he was let down that so many were still not wearing seatbelts.

He said: "It's disappointing that wearing a seatbelt, which is such a fundamental part of road safety, still isn't second nature to some and they continue to put lives at risk. The message for drivers and passengers is clear: the next time you even think about travelling in a car without wearing a seatbelt, take a second to consider whether it's really worth the risk - and belt up."

A two-week blitz across Wales has identified 1,775 people breaking seatbelt laws. In the Dyfed-Powys force area, there were 959 offences, while in North Wales a total of 280 offenders were caught.

In South Wales, 405 people were prosecuted, while in Gwent, there were 131 offences - with 46 of the offences across Wales relating to a child not wearing a seatbelt.

Festival to pull in the crowds

SHOPPERS and traders will be flocking to Moreton Park Garden Centre tomorrow, Friday, for the monthly food festival.

The event will be attended by local food producers, with a tempting array of treats between 10am and 3pm. The event takes place on the third Friday of each month.

Lottery cash will kickstart £800,000 scout hut work

by Andrew Morris

WORK on a new £800,000 scout hut will begin this summer after the group behind the project received half a million pounds of funding.

The 1st Clives Own Scout Group, based in Welshpool, have received £499,358 lottery funding to go along with £300,000 from the Welsh Assembly for the new hut and it is hoped it will be up and running by May next year.

Farrell McManus, from the group, said he was delighted with the funding and said the new centre would be used by the whole community.

He said: "This is amazing news. We still have some final funds to raise but this is wonderful news for the town as a whole. We will put the job out to tender in about a month's time with a view to breaking ground in July."

Farrell McManus, Shane Squibb, Michael and Bronwen Poole celebrate the funding for the new scout hut in Welshpool.

"We are told it will then take around 10 months to complete so we are looking at around May 2014 for it to be ready for use."

"There has been a tremendous amount of hard work from a dedicated group so I'd like to thank everyone for their efforts which have proved worthwhile. It has been a long, hard project and we hope the business community will also get behind it."

Impact

"We want this new facility to be a model of how to build a modern community centre. It will be flexible and adaptable for a range of uses. It needs to be sustainable with low overheads to attract a wide range of community groups for educational, community support and social activities."

The centre will adopt the latest environmental and energy saving techniques and has the goal of attracting 1,000 new people through its doors in its first three years of operation.

Facilities will include a main hall which can be divided in half, office space as well as a training standard kitchen. It will be constructed on the site of the current scout hut which has fallen into disrepair.

Mr McManus added: "The positive impact is should have on the town is mind boggling."

Gareth Newtown, committee member for the Big Lottery Fund in Wales, which approved the near £500,000 funding, added: "The money will be spent on demolishing the existing dilapidated scout hut and building a brand new community facility for Welshpool and the surrounding area."

"The aim is to extend the use of the building to a wide range of community groups for educational, community support and social activities."

"A range of training activities will be developed for young people not in education, training or employment and for those who are long term unemployed. It will also provide an information hub and a meeting venue for support organisations."

Crews fight timber yard fire

Forty firefighters tackled this blaze at the Broadoak Timber Yard near Welshpool.

Emergency services at the scene of the blaze.

FORTY firefighters tackled a huge blaze at a timber yard just outside Guilsfield, near Welshpool, on Tuesday night.

Seven fire crews from the Mid and West Wales service spent several hours at the Broadoak Timber Yard after the blaze broke out.

A fire service spokesman said 90 per cent of a 65ft by 131ft building was involved in the fire. Appliances from Welshpool, Llanfyllin, Montgomery and Newtown attended the blaze at around 6.10pm.

Four hose reel jets and four breathing apparatus were used as firefighters tackled the flames.

A neighbour, who did not want to be named, said: "We have been told that a shed filled with timber has burnt down."

"It all happened around 6pm. There was a lot of shouting and a hell of a lot of black smoke and then all of a sudden we could hear the crackling of wood."

Fire crews were still at the scene yesterday completing a damping down operation.

Bank refuses to allow BT cabinet

A BANK in Oswestry has refused to allow BT to site one of its superfast broadband cabinets outside its premises.

Nat West says that it would only allow the telephone company to place the large green box on Church Street on condition that it removed the cabinet if the bank needed to carry out repair work or wanted to install an ATM cash point.

But BT says that this would lead to a £50,000 bill, which it is not prepared to meet.

Now it looks like the cabinet will have to be placed at the entrance to Festival Square, which has been opposed by Oswestry Town Council as it is in the heart of the conservation area.

This week Oswestry town councillors agreed to make a last ditch attempt to persuade the bank to change its mind, by writing to its head office.

Mayor, Councillor Martin Bennett, said that if the cabinet had to go at Festival Square it must be painted to blend in.

Pubs backing new scheme

A NEW pubwatch scheme has been set up on the Shropshire border to help combat anti-social behaviour.

Dyfed Powys Police has helped to set up a Behave or Be Banned scheme in Llanfyllin, near Oswestry.

It has started in the town to allow licensees to call time on any alcohol related crime and disorder and anti-social nuisance.

The committee-led scheme allows on and off licensed premises to work with partners such as the police, to ensure that troublemakers are not allowed into licensed premises or to purchase alcohol.

Firm has date at the Palace

A COMPANY is creating a right royal entrance for a festival at Buckingham Palace later this year.

The British Ironworks centre in Oswestry has been asked to supply four of its garden pavilion structures which will be used to create stunning entrances for visitors to the Coronation Festival.

Company owner Clive Knowles said he was extremely proud that British Ironworks had been selected to take part in the prestigious and historic occasion, which will take place between July 11 and 14.

Mr Knowles said: "We all feel remarkably honoured to be there and to be surrounded by over 200 of Her Majesty's appointed warrant holder companies, all exhibiting only the finest products made in the UK. It is set to be an amazing show."

"First impressions are everything and our nostalgic and extremely beautiful 'Bandstand Carousel Pavilions' are perfect for the entrances to the show."

CAN A COMMUNITY ASSOCIATION BE A LIMITED COMPANY TO REDUCE PERSONAL LIABILITY?

Q: I am the clerk of a local community association. Our members are becoming concerned about their potential personal liability and have heard that it is possible to incorporate to become a limited company. Is this correct?

A: It is correct that you are able to incorporate and become a charitable company limited by guarantee, ensuring that your members have limited personal liability. However, limited companies were never designed for charities and many are discouraged by the strict dual regulation (by Companies House and the Charity Commission), the need to prepare and file two sets of accounts and the complex rules governing the rights and relationship between a company and its members.

From 10th December 2012, it became possible for charitable organisations to adopt a new structure as a "Charitable Incorporated Organisation" (a CIO). This is a structure designed specifically for charities and offers the benefit of limited liability which will make it easier to recruit and retain trustees, whilst avoiding dual regulation as CIOs are regulated solely by the Charity Commission. CIOs also have simplified reporting and filing obligations and are allowed greater flexibility to establish their own governance procedures.

As this new structure is expected to be extremely popular for both new and existing charities seeking the benefits of incorporation, there is a phased implementation plan in place. Organisations newly registering as charities with anticipated annual incomes of £5000 or more can apply to register as CIOs immediately. Those with incomes of less than £5000 can apply from January 2014. If your organisation is already registered as a charity and has an income over £5000 you can apply from October 2013, although you may wish to consider taking legal advice in advance so that the required documentation can be prepared in good time.

New name will put town back on the football map

OSWESTRY could soon be back on the football map with moves to set up a new team bearing the name of the town.

Oswestry Villa is the chosen name for the new club after soccer fans were told legal red tape meant they were unable to use the title Oswestry Town FC.

The new club will be based at Gatacre playing fields in the town, although it is not yet known which league the new team would compete in. And members of Oswestry Town Council have agreed in principle to the new club using the town crest on its shirts.

The move will resurrect the Oswestry Villa name – a club of the same name had success during the late 1950s and early 1960s.

Public opinion sways builder

MORE than 50 homes could be built in West Felton.

Balfours has submitted an outline application on behalf of Tedsmore Estate for the homes to be built north of Tedsmore Road in the village. The site is currently used as grazing land.

The application says the new homes could create 'a natural extension to the village'. The site would lie to the east of West Felton near Felton Park, to the west of Holyhead Road.

Developers had originally wanted to build 150 homes on the site, but the figure was cut after the original plans received 'little support' during a public consultation.

Rory Galliers, a spokesman for Balfours, said: "We have reduced the number of homes considerably and the size of the site and retained the existing playing fields."

"It is only an outline application so we can have further consultation of what facilities the villagers want on the open space."

The original Oswestry club, Oswestry United, was founded in 1860, making it one of the world's oldest football clubs.

The renamed Oswestry Town Football Club won the Cheshire League in 1972, competed in the Northern Premier League and they also reached the FA Cup 1st round on several occasions. However, it went into decline and was forced to sell its Victoria Road ground to pay its debts folding completely in the late 1980s.

It reformed in the 1990 joining the Welsh league, and in 2003 merged with the Llansantffraid-based Total Network Solutions – now renamed The New Saints and recently crowned Welsh Premier League champions.

Oswestry Villa group member Graham Sutton said: "The original intention was to use the name of Oswestry Town FC but consents have not been received."

Mike Robinson, secretary of Oswestry Villa, said: "We decided on the name last week. At the moment there is not a team in Oswestry town centre. People from the town could walk to watch a game. It will be hard work to set up but the people involved are experienced football administrators."

At a meeting of Oswestry Town Council last week councillors agreed in principle to the new club using the crest. However, councillors said they wanted to know more about the club before granting permission.

Giveaway for Bard's birthday

WORLD Book Night is back, with a third book giveaway planned for Shakespeare's birthday on April 23. There's an air of the event pulling in its horns a little, with organisers planning to distribute only 500,000 books in the UK in 2013 half as many as in previous years. Oswestry Library is stocking a range of the selected books. Setting out the World Book Night display, was library assistant Louise Taylor Kennett. Picture: Peter Flemmich.

Gardening tips passed on during seed sowing event

On the stall was Ceri Evans, from Incredible Edible Oswestry.

PEOPLE young and old flocked to Oswestry to plant vegetables as part of a seed sowing event.

The event, on Bailey Head on Saturday, was run by Incredible Edible, a group which has been set up to encourage local food growing, as part of Plant A Seed Day.

Experienced gardeners were also on hand to demonstrate and help people.

Everyone was allowed to take their seeds home so they can have some home-grown produce later in the summer.

by Chrissy Symmons

Anne Hendrie, event spokeswoman, said: "Incredible Edible aims to establish community gardens, encourage home-growing of food in the smallest of spaces such as pots and balconies, make use of surplus produce at times of plenty, plant some public areas with edible and insect-friendly plants, and compile a list of volunteer gardeners with expertise and time to help with projects."

"Other planned activities include setting up a tool bank, holding an apple day in October, and organising a display in an empty shop window."

Last month, a public meeting was held in the town and 50 people turned up to try to create ways of making the town healthier.

As a result there were a number of suggestions to start up initiatives including a 'bank' for people to borrow gardening tools.

Plant A Seed Day is part of Edible Britain, a national scheme that aims to improve the environment, bring communities together through gardening, and see new public herb and vegetable gardens planted across the UK.

Through community food growing, people can meet and learn from experienced gardeners, and enjoy fresh healthy local food.

An email address has now been set up for people to send the group suggestions on how to grow and promote the incredible edible idea at ieoswestry@gmail.com

A Facebook page has already been launched. For more information on Plant A Seed Day call Anne Hendrie on (01691) 659773 or email the above address.

Line-up of events to help beat recession

A SERIES of events and initiatives are being run in Oswestry to help beat the worst effects of the recession.

An Apple Day will be held in October and is being organised by Kate Clarke and Oswestry Town Council clerk David Clough.

And traders are continuing to support country markets held every two weeks at Oswestry Memorial Hall.

Ms Clarke said the Apple Day will promote and celebrate allotments, home-grown fruit and vegetables and would also include musical entertainment.

She said she was passionate about the issue of home-grown produce and also praised the country market.

She said: "We are going through a recession and so we are getting more resourceful. The country market is fantastic. It is a regular event and has some great jams."

"The jam making is sourced locally and the fruit for the jam is grown, they then make it into jam and bring it to the market. When people buy it they are probably buying it from the person who made it."

"It is local people growing locally and bringing and selling."

The next country markets will take place on April 24 and May 1 and they will run from 8.30am until 1pm.

Couple in move to open new noodle bar

A NOODLE bar could soon open in Oswestry town centre creating a number of jobs, if planning permission is granted.

Christopher Norcross and his wife currently trade as Tams cafe and noodle bar, in Chirk, and are looking to expand their business by moving to the town.

They have chosen the location for the new bar to be at 8/10 New Street, in Oswestry, and say they have already been granted an eight year lease.

The premises was a shop and will need to be converted and so now the couple have applied to Shropshire Council for planning permission.

It is planned that the shop will have a waiting area for customers as well as a stool bar and a seating area.

Mr and Mrs Norcross wrote a letter to go along with the application.

It read: "We are currently trading as Tams Cafe and noodle bar in Chirk where we have built up a good reputation."

A second planning application has also been submitted to Shropshire Council from a separate applicant also requesting permission to set up a takeaway in the town.

This time the location is the Mosaic House in Smithfield Street.

Strengthening works are to begin on listed road bridge

A GRADE II listed road bridge which has a major crack in it, will be strengthened and repaired so lorries can use it once again.

Llansantffraid Bridge has suffered the damage due to a number of vehicles driving on one side to avoid a footpath.

Lorries are now being forced to go on a lengthy diversion route due to the 18 tonne weight limit currently in place.

Powys County Council's planning committee voted unanimously to give the council listed building consent to carry out strengthening and repair works, which members said would boost the village economy.

Louise Ruggeri, planning officer, said the footpath, which runs alongside the bridge, would be removed to allow an even spread of traffic.

She said: "This application is in respect of listed building consent for works to Llansantffraid Bridge on the eastern edge of the village towards Four Crosses. The structure is Grade II listed as an elegant two arch 18th century bridge in an ancient bridge location, which has retained its character notwithstanding the problem its narrow width poses for modern traffic."

"The works to the bridge include replacement of fill with mass concrete to provide a reinforced concrete saddle on each arch and removal of the footway and a shared surface introduced."

She added: "The structure currently has a weight restriction, putting local businesses at a disadvantage, so it is accepted that strengthening work is necessary."

Councillor Kelvin Curry said he was worried about removing the footpath.

He said: "I worry it will be a danger to pedestrians. It also operates as a barrier in case a car hits it, rather than hitting the bridge or even falling in the water."

Councillor Michael Williams added: "There is currently a diversion for lorries weighing 18 tonnes so this would be a boost to the village economy. The work is long overdue in my opinion."

Village library held in church

VILLAGERS are creating their own public library inside their parish church amid fears that the mobile library service could stop in the future.

Shropshire Council's mobile library service visits Trefonen, near Oswestry, once a fortnight on a Tuesday, stopping outside the Barley Mow Inn, in Chapel Lane.

But Ernest Osman, from Trefonen, said he fears this service may not carry on in the village in the future and so has decided to take matters into his own hands.

He said the All Saints Church in the village is open most week days so he has come up with the idea to create a small public library in there - and he has already collected a number of books.

But a spokesman for Shropshire Council said the mobile library service would continue, visiting from 9am to 9.30am.

Anyone wishing to donate towards the library can call Mr Osman on (01691) 654184.

Victoria meets the zoo gang

Victoria Edmonds feeding the ring-tailed lemurs at Dudley Zoological Gardens.

A WOMAN from Oswestry became zoo keeper for the day when she joined staff to help them look after Lemurs.

Victoria Edmonds, 23, from Oswestry, was treated to the experience as a birthday present.

She joined staff at Dudley Zoological Gardens where she worked with lemurs and other animals. The experience allowed her to go behind the scenes at the award-winning tourist attraction.

Victoria said: "I would definitely recommend this experience to all age groups, the keepers are friendly and knowledgeable and you really get to know the different personalities of all the animals."

"It was a fantastic day out. It's so hard to choose a best part of the day as everything was amazing but feeding the lemurs and the owls was particularly enjoyable."

Funds raised through the scheme support the zoo's conservation and animal project.

Chance to enjoy a magical adventure

HARRY Potter is coming to Oswestry and youngsters are being urged to conjure up their artistic sides to help with his arrival.

Staff at The Centre, in Oak Street, want to put on a play about the teenage wizard in November.

But they need the town's young people to help with the script writing, set designing and building, acting, lights and sound.

They are also searching for a talented person to become the face of Harry Potter to take on one of the lead roles in the play.

Jay Moore, of Fusion Arts Oswestry, is co-ordinating the project.

He said: "The idea is to have young people involved in all areas of production, from writing the script, building and designing the set, making costumes, doing the lighting and sound and of course acting the roles."

"It was my idea to do the play about Harry Potter because it is a popular story. I will oversee the project and make sure it is on track but it is all going to be about the young people."

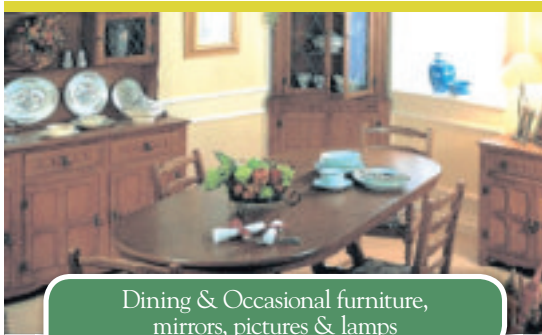

The first script writing session will start on April 22 from 6pm until 8pm with help from a professional writer.

For more information or to get involved call Mr Moore on (01691) 677170.

Parking figures have to be seen to be believed

IT TAKES some believing but nearly 50,000 fewer vehicles used Oswestry's car parks during the last financial year.

Figures released by the town council revealed that almost 1,000 drivers per week turned their backs on the town centre.

These are alarming figures but the big question is are the numbers down because of the empty shops or are the shops empty because of the drop in visitor numbers?

Tickets

There were 775,949 tickets issued for all three car parks during 2012/2013, a drop of 49,138 on the previous year - a six per cent drop.

He said that there had been a five per cent decrease in those using the car parks for up to an hour and a four per cent decrease in people using the car parks for between one and two hours.

But the figures showed that the numbers staying for between two to four hours had dropped by 13 per cent and four to six hours by 30 per cent.

The Town Council is to be commended for launching many initiatives in a bid to attract more people to the town centre - but the reality is the figures are likely to fall again when more out-of-town shopping outlets open.

ALARMING figures this week showed that in Powys one in four teenagers have not had two MMR jabs, so are not fully protected against measles as more and more cases are reported across Wales and Shropshire.

The vaccine provides protection very quickly and measles in teenage years can be extremely nasty.

While nearly all the attention has been on the baby population it really is important to ensure all youngsters have completed the full course.

I COULDN'T help thinking what a great job our voluntary firemen do as over 40 of them spent the night battling a major timber yard blaze just outside Welshpool on Tuesday.

Yes the guys get paid an allowance for turning out at a minute's notice but they do a fantastic job and have to be back at their day jobs the next day, despite having had no sleep.

They also put their lives on the line for us in dangerous situations and these retained officers often have to turn out to incidents that will involve friends or family.

WHAT annoyed me this week was being held up for quite some time in a supermarket checkout queue.

Why is it that people don't decide to look for their money to pay until all their shopping is packed neatly away - often on top of the very purse that they are looking for?

It's obvious that you need to pay for the chosen goods, isn't it?

If this carries on I'm going to stop doing the shopping.

Life takes a new twist as Michael starts retirement

by Iain St John

A GRANDFATHER who retired after the county's prison was closed last month has found a novel way of filling the extra time he now has on his hands - by launching new martial arts classes.

And he is bringing his passion to Oswestry.

Michael Corten, 54, worked as a prison officer at Shrewsbury Prison for 25 years and chose to take early retirement rather than move to another prison when it was closed at the end of March.

Hobby

But rather than tending the garden or taking up a new hobby as recently-retired people often do, Mr Corten is continuing with his love of the martial art of aikido.

He already runs classes at the Shrewsbury Sports Village on Sundorne Road on Tuesday evenings.

And with a bit more time on his hands, the father-of-three is starting a new class at the same venue on Friday evenings starting from April 19.

And he is bringing aikido to Oswestry too, by launching a class at Oswestry Leisure Centre on Shrewsbury Road on Thursday evenings starting from April 18.

The prison at the Dana closed last month as part of nationwide Government plans to save £63 million a year in running costs.

More than 200 members of staff were affected by the closure of Shrewsbury Prison, with some taking voluntary redundancy and others moving to different prisons.

A uniformed parade was held at Shrewsbury Prison to mark its closure before the keys to the grade II-listed building

Michael Corten, left, is now bringing aikido to Oswestry.

Aikido goes down a storm at a class in Shrewsbury.

ing were handed over to the Ministry of Justice.

Mr Corten, who has practised aikido for 32 years and is a fourth dan black belt, said he has ran classes in the area at several venues - including the prison.

He said: "At one time I actually ran the regular classes at the jail's gym but they were for the public and any staff who wanted to join in - not for the prisoners obviously."

"We have been at several other venues, but have now been at the Shrewsbury Sports Village for the past four years.

"When we were told the prison was closing I was offered a chance of being redeployed elsewhere but I was looking to take early retirement anyway."

Delighted

"This has given me the chance to put on the extra classes and I delighted to be able to bring aikido to Oswestry."

"I teach people of all abilities and levels and I can also grade them through to attain their belts. I think it is so important to be able to defend yourself these days and aikido does just that."

"It teaches you discipline and it non-combative so it is about being able to fend off attackers whether they try to kick or punch you or even come at you with a weapon."

People interested in joining Mr Corten's new classes should contact the leisure centres.

Fitness instructor moves to new base

A FITNESS trainer who was left with no electricity and no working toilets when a nearby business closed just four months ago is now on the brink of opening a new base after £50,000 of investment.

Danni Evans, 36, runs Fitness2improve above Le Belle Vie in the old town hall in Ellesmere.

But when the restaurant suddenly closed in December she was left with no lighting, heating or water in part of the building.

Now an investor has helped her turn the nightmare into a new start as she will open Basecamp Health & Fitness Centre at Ellesmere Business Park next month.

"It was in January we were approached by the investor, it was a blase comment I made and then we were asked to provide a business plan," she said. "That belief in us gave me the belief in myself."

The mum-of-three will be supported by her husband James, 34, who is leaving his job as a cover supervisor at the Lakelands School to join the business. And she said the new base is a dream come true.

She said: "Phase one was to get in there, phase two to do the mezzanine floor and phase three will be to add another toilet and shower facilities in there as well."

"Because of the investor we were able to combine phases one and two and we're hoping to achieve phase three within the next year."

Youths to sing at hall

A MUSICAL evening featuring talented young singers will be held at Llanfchain Memorial Hall on Saturday at 7pm.

The evening, entitled Hymns and Arias, is being hosted by the Llanfchain Show committee to raise funds for the summer show.

Pieces will be performed by pupils from Llanfyllin, Llanidloes and Oswestry High Schools accompanied by Gloria Ellis.

Tickets will be £5.50 for adults and £3 for children or the parents of those taking part. They are available from Llanfchain Community Shop or by ringing June on (01691) 828077 or Elizabeth on (01691) 828614.

Memories of Thatcher visit to county

I RECALL a visit to Shropshire by Margaret Thatcher to open the new study wing at Ellesmere College.

The then headmaster David Skipper had carefully selected studies to show her and pupils to meet her. On entering the first study she spotted gaps in the posters on the wall and on asking was told that these had been removed for her visit.

She then asked, "Headmaster, are we being shown selected studies?"

The next study that she chose had cut-outs of underwear placed on the pin up girls which she found hilarious.

Another revealed Ergy Williams sitting below a 'Hands off student unions' poster. This delighted her and she proceeded to verbally lay into Ergy who, fair play, did some of his own shouting. She thoroughly enjoyed herself.

Some years later I joined Saatchi as a trainee when they were handling the Conservative advertising campaign.

Thatcher was frequently in the building.

I was also sharing a house with her secretary who mentioned the college visit which she recalled with pleasure.

She also took time to ask after me and my job on several occasions.

Like her or hate her politics, she had a good sense of humour and won over the college pupils who tended to be hard judges of character.

ROBIN LLOYD, Ellesmere

BACK in November 1973 members of Oswestry Round Table had restored a Victorian fire engine. It was found at an Oswestry garage and bore the inscription: 'Presented to the town of Oswestry on behalf of the Volunteer Fire Brigade by Mrs A. Wynne Corrie, 1887, the Jubilee year of Her Gracious Majesty, Victoria.' The maker was Shand Mason of London. On left is John Hewitt, who was in charge of the restoration work, and on right is Llew Hughes, organiser of the Round Table's Christmas parade for that year, when the engine was due to be displayed.

No end of kindness in town

I WOULD like to give my utmost thanks to the young couple who came to my aid after a fall in Oswald Road, Oswestry, on the morning of Thursday, April 4.

They gave me considerable help before leaving me at the Minor Injuries Unit for treatment.

I'm a man of mature years - in my 80s, with disability - and have been assisted recently in other incidents eg, a lady stopping me to tie my shoelaces (which I hadn't noticed had come undone!) and a man helping me off the ice.

It makes me think that there are no end of kind people in Oswestry and district.

Thatcher's legacy is in UK's de-industrialisation

THOSE who seek Margaret Thatcher's legacy will find it in the de-industrialisation of the UK; the destruction of coal mining; the privatisation of public-owned utilities (flogged off at low prices); deregulation of banking and financial institutions, which eventually caused the 2008 crash.

The sale of council houses and the restriction of local authorities who wished to invest the proceeds into building new houses; support for the Apartheid regime in South Africa and the Pinochet regime in Chile; flogging off North Sea oil and failing to invest that revenue in the UK.

Her 'market knows best' mantra infected every corner of public services including the police, NHS, prison service and even the BBC. Yes, this lady changed the face of politics in this country and the damage caused will take years to repair - if ever. Farewell Margaret and thanks a bunch!

PETER SAYLES, Oswestry

Clear up scheme is snow joke

WHICHEVER council or department is responsible for organising snow clearing in Oswestry has once again revealed the most selective and cynical assessment of the problems it causes and gone for the basics - clear the roads, clear the car parks, collect the revenue and forget the pedestrians.

It is hardly rocket science to calculate that it would be easier to remove snow when it is fresh.

Minimum effort to clear this snow was made in the town centre, outside that area the state of our pavements was a total disgrace. Maximum effort went into looking after the 30 million motorists.

Triathlon event at Mere gets scrapped

A SPORTING event running for 20 years in Ellesmere has been scrapped due to a lack of interest.

Organisers of the 21st TRI UK Shropshire Triathlon feared they would have lost more than £14,000 if they had gone ahead with this year's event. The triathlon - also known as the Ellesmere Triathlon - usually attracts hundreds of competitors from all over the country.

It was due to take place on May 26 in Ellesmere. Organisers said they had received 129 entries, but needed over 370 for it to break even.

The committee is due to meet soon to consider how it may be reinstated next year.

A statement on the Shropshire Tri website said: "It is with great regret the 21st Annual TRI UK Shropshire Triathlon has been cancelled. The main reason is financial. Due to the significant dip in entries on previous years, we have forecast we would lose over £14,000. This was despite 129 entries already received and the possibility of more before entries closed, but we needed in excess of 370 for the event to break even."

Members are thanked

MORE than 25 people attended the recent meeting of the Ellesmere & District 41 Club.

Outgoing chairman David Webster gave a report on his year in office, which included visits to Whittington Castle, Manor House Stables and Wrexham Lager.

Other events included a bowls night, skittles night and golf competition.

Mr Webster finished his report at the meeting at The Boathouse by thanking members for their support.

During the meeting Nigel Williams was appointed the new chairman who promised members another year of varied events and meetings.

Election result

IN the report headed 'BNP will contest seats on council' on page one of last week's Oswestry & Border Chronicle we omitted to mention the Gatacre Ward on Oswestry Town Council. Vince Hunt and Elaine Channon have both been returned unopposed.

Air ambulances boosted by gift of new life-saving kit

A NEW state-of-the-art piece of lifesaving equipment has been added to the Welshpool-based Mid Wales air ambulance after £15,000 of donations.

The Wales Air Ambulance said its three helicopters – including the one based in Welshpool – had been kitted out with video laryngoscopes, which allow paramedics to clear a patient's airway with the assistance of a microscopic camera.

The new technology will help the paramedics continue their vital work making life-saving medical interventions within the 'golden hour' – the first 60 minutes after a trauma that are crucial to a patient's survival.

Groups urged to seek funds

GROUPS, organisations and charities in the Welshpool area are being urged by Montgomeryshire MP Glyn Davies, to apply for £50,000 as part of a multi-million project between ITV and the Big Lottery Fund.

The People's Millions programme will be broadcast on ITV Wales in May, giving people the opportunity to vote for groups or organisations that they believe should receive support.

But the organisations have to submit an application in the first place to have a chance to be part of it, and applications close on May 13.

Mr Davies said: "The People's Millions competition represents a great opportunity to mobilise support and publicity behind local causes. I urge any group or organisation that supports their local community in Montgomeryshire to apply."

More information can be found at www.peoplesmillions.org.uk or by telephoning 0845 010 1112.

Jason Williams, clinical and operations manager for the Air Ambulance at Welshpool, said the new equipment has been acquired thanks to two generous donations totalling £15,000.

Mr Williams said the new laryngoscopes will greatly help the charity's lifesaving work.

He said: "This is life saving equipment that uses a fibre optic camera to insert a tube into an adult or child's airway in order to assist their breathing."

"We are the first air ambulance in the UK to introduce this equipment, and are very proud to be able to offer even better lifesaving treatment to casualties across Wales."

"The video laryngoscopes will help our paramedics ensure trauma patients receive the most appropriate care within the crucial 'golden hour'."

Blocked or damaged airways are among the most common problems that affect trauma victims, and the video laryngoscopes give paramedics an increased chance of ensuring patients' airways are clear, providing a clear image of any blockages or damage endured.

Angela Hughes, Wales Air Ambulance's chief executive, said: "It's fantastic that we've been able to fit our helicopters with this equipment, and we couldn't have done it without the assistance of two very generous donations."

Wales Air Ambulance paramedics Chris Connor and Jason Hughes try out the new video laryngoscope.

Tenants needed on board of group

MID Wales Housing Association is appealing to its Welshpool tenants to join their board.

The association says their input will be vital as it bids to continually improve its services and face up to the financial hardships ahead.

The Association wants individuals with a passion for social housing and who can help take decisions collectively and monitor the company's performance.

The board comprises 14 members, of which two are tenants, but the association wishes to strengthen its tenant representation.

Shane Perkins, chief executive, said: "In these challenging times, it is vital to ensure that the board of management has the necessary skills and experience which complement the business goals and provide strong leadership and guidance."

"We are constantly looking to increase the board's knowledge base as wide as possible to reflect the association's responsibility to its tenants and stakeholders and I welcome applicants from our properties throughout the area who believe they can make a difference to the way in which their association is run."

If any tenant is interested, they should ring Janet Price on 0300 111 3030.

Drivers told to cut speed after spate of crashes

Andrew's winning idea

Andrew Davies is presented with his award by Angharad Roberts, from Sgiliaith.

A SPORTS lecturer at a college has come up with a winning idea for championing bilingual teaching.

Andrew Davies, from Forden, near Welshpool, who works at Coleg Powys in Newtown, won a national competition among training providers to promote bilingual teaching and learning within the further education sector in Wales.

Andrew, a national cross country running star who also plays Welsh Premier League football, entered the competition held by Sgiliaith, an organisation which offers support on bilingualism and Welsh and English communication skills to further education colleges.

Andrew said: "My idea was to have a small spelling test at the end of each lesson, in English and Welsh, about the topic which has been taught.

"As some of my sessions are bilingual, students will have come across the word so hopefully be able to spell it at the end. I sent my idea through, and lo and behold I won the competition - winning a Kindle Fire."

MOTORISTS have been warned to cut their speed and be more vigilant after six serious collisions in Mid Wales in a week.

Mid & West Wales Fire and Rescue Service, Dyfed-Powys Police dealt with the collisions, which included five people being injured in a two-car crash in Welshpool.

In other parts of the service's area there have been two fatal collisions in the space of a week and they are now warning drivers to take extra care on the roads.

Jim Cameron, corporate head of community risk reduction at Mid & West Wales Fire Service, said he was hoping people would heed his advice.

He said: "We attended numerous serious road traffic collisions where several casualties became trapped. As well as utilising our hydraulic rescue equipment, we also deployed line rescue teams because of the precarious situation of one of the vehicles.

"These collisions mean tragedy for individuals and families. We would urge people to ensure that they wear seatbelts and reduce their speed.

"After a long, dry spell we have wetter more unsettled weather on the way and this will mean less grip for tyres and increased stopping distances. If in doubt, please slow down."

The collision in Welshpool resulted in five people having to be cut free from two cars which had crashed on the A483 Welshpool bypass.

Four people were taken to hospital by ambulance, while another was flown by air ambulance.

The two fatal collisions which happened in the force area, included a collision on the A4069 Llangadog to Brynammon road in which a woman died and a collision when a 26-year-old man died following a collision on the A48 at Maesybont.

The event is held every third Thursday of the month and those wishing to dine are advised to arrive by 12.30pm ready to be served from 1pm.

For more information call (01686) 621354.

The chapel has also now reopened for the tourist season and visitors are welcome from 2pm to 4.30pm each Wednesday and Thursday.

Fun with flowers night to aid funds

A FLORAL demonstration will be held in Trefonen to raise cash for charity.

Fun with Flowers and Song will take place in aid of the Trefonen Hill Walk weekend this year.

The evening of flowers, music and posh puddings will be held on May 16 from 7.30pm at All Saints Church. All proceeds will go to Macmillan Cancer Support and Bulembu School in Swailand.

Tickets cost £7.50 on (01691) 668618.

Society meeting

THE next meeting of the North Powys Decorative and Fine Arts Society is in the Powis Suite of The Royal Oak, Welshpool, on April 25 at 7.30pm.

Business start-up sessions aim to help the over-50s

PEOPLE over the age of 50 looking to start their own businesses will be given a helping hand in Oswestry to start work.

A national charity dedicated to helping the over 50s explore self-employment will host a series of workshops from April 23.

The Prince's Initiative for Mature Enterprise, part of the Prince's Initiative, will be holding the first workshop at The Centre in Oak Street.

There are currently 3,300 self-employed workers in Oswestry and The Prince's Initiative promotes self-employment as a viable route into sustainable employment.

It believes that this could be a possible alternative for the 1,600 economically inactive 50-64 year-olds in the area.

Challenging

The workshops will take place over six to eight weeks, including three classroom days, and will take people over the age of 50 through the challenging process of preparing to run their own business.

Topics covered will include areas such as researching a business idea, planning finances, and how to market and sell a product or service.

Mark Pemberton, Shropshire Council's enterprise and growth service manager, said: "The work being done by The Prince's Initiative is fantastic to see.

by Sue Austin

"The support and guidance they give to those they work with is outstanding, and opens their horizons to another employment path they may not have considered or felt confident enough to try otherwise."

Nick Bunting, The Prince's Initiative's chief executive, said: "Mature workers face a perfect storm of longer working lives, a pensions' crisis, economic downturn and the uphill struggle to find employment once it is lost.

"Their experience is often sacrificed against cost.

"We help people respond positively and all the evidence shows that they make a success of it, still running businesses at the key one year and three year stages," he added.

More information about the course can be found at www.prime.org.uk/courses or by ringing 0845 862 2023.

Budding bookworms scoop prizes

AN annual book review competition to encourage reading among primary school children in Oswestry has been deemed a great success.

The competition was organised by Oswestry Library and Oswestry Rotary Club and this year's contest was a book review competition with a twist.

It took the form of a letter writing competition and the letters were to be addressed to Michael Morpurgo, the children's author who visited the town during last month's Oswestry Festival of the Word.

The children had to tell Mr Morpurgo which of his books was their favourite and why. Out of the 220 entries received from 12 schools, Rachel Roberts, from Kinnerley School, emerged the winner.

Part of her prize was to meet Mr Morpurgo during his visit to the Marches School in Oswestry.

The runner-up was Jessica Pike, from Woodside School, and William Bachelor, also from Woodside School, took third place.

Their prizes consisted of gift tokens and a book.

National art show returning to college

A NATIONAL art exhibition in Ellesmere which attracted more than 600 visitors last year has proved so successful that it will return next month.

Work by more than 60 artists and sculptors from across the country will be featured in the second Ellesmere National Art Exhibition at Ellesmere College.

There will be up to 200 pieces of work on display in the Big School Hall including oil paintings, glass sculptures and work created using light, film and sound.

Karen Heald's abstract work includes a piece designed specifically for the exhibition and will feature the Schulte Organ, which is housed in the Big School Hall, and will provide the canvas for the projected piece.

Also new for this year will be the artist workshops on June 1 with Andrew Vaughan, a visual landscape artist from Chester.

It is hoped the exhibition will raise the profile of the arts in the region.

Nick Pettingale, director of external relations at the college, said: "We have always been passionate about the arts at Ellesmere College and after our inaugural exhibition last year, which we are even more excited about this year's event."

Tiny profit margin on forecourts

The petrol station's fuel prices.

by Sue Austin

WHEN a motorist buys a litre of petrol for £1.34 at St Martins Service Station, near Oswestry, it means a 2.3p gross profit for the business.

But the profit on the 58p Mars Bar the driver may then pick up is four times that amount – between eight and nine pence.

The staggering difference highlights the pressure independent fuel stations are under as they find themselves squeezed between lower profit margins offered by oil companies and competition from major supermarkets.

The service station in St Martins, run by brother and sister Michael Horst and Rose Crocker, has been a successful business in the village for the past 17 years.

But they admit that without the garage workshop and the convenience store that form part of the business, it simply would not survive.

Squeezed

It was 12 years ago when they realised that fuel could not longer sustain the business.

Mr Horst said: "When we took over in 1986 there were just two petrol pumps, no diesel, and a little kiosk from where we had to serve the customers."

"We retained the garage workshop, with

At the pumps, Rose Crocker and Mike Horst.

MOTs and services a major part of the business, and put in fully automated pumps.

"Then 12 years ago we could see that fuel was being squeezed and we extended our shop and took on the Londis symbol, developing the convenience store."

He said the decision proved to be the right one.

"The profit we make on fuel is negligible," he said. "We try to make an average of 3p a litre gross profit but at the moment that has dropped to 2.3p. Out of that has to come staff costs and the cost of running the pumps and other outgoings."

For instance, he said, the business had to pay a charge for every time a credit card was used. Yet cash was not better. We still have to pay cash handling charges to the bank," he said. And Mr Horst said it was not the fuel company that was making the profits.

"When fuel companies publish their profits everyone assumes they are making money on retailing petrol and diesel," he said. "But it is not, it is from oil exploration and other projects. Those companies are tightening the profit margins they offer while on the other hand the large supermarkets discount their petrol to as low a price as they are able."

He said small independents simply couldn't compete.

"We had a fuel tanker fill deliver 38,000 litres the other day which could last me eight to 10 days," he said.

"Now if tomorrow the supermarkets cut their prices, we simply cannot do the same as our fuel is in the ground, already paid for. Our hands are tied."

"If we are near to a delivery and we know prices are falling then perhaps we could take a loss for a couple of days. But it is a constant and daily, juggling act. The margins are so tight there is no room for manoeuvre."

Mr Horst said there are also costs that the business is unable to recoup.

Drive-offs, where motorists leave without paying, are Mr Horst said, mercifully few and far between. But they have a drastic effect on the business. "We had a drive-off the other day when a driver went off with £30 of fuel," said Mr Horst. That is something that the business, not the oil company, has to cover.

"To make up for that £30 I have to sell 1,000 litres of fuel. That is 25 per cent of my daily profit on fuel lost."

Yet despite the difficulties and poor profit margins the brother and sister said it is a business worth carrying on.

Mr Horst said: "We have great staff in the workshop and in the store and some incredibly loyal customers."

Fast food outlet may create up to 35 jobs

PIZZA chain store Domino's could be setting up in Oswestry with the potential of creating up to 35 jobs.

Domino's bosses have revealed they are looking at possible sites for a shop in the town.

They say they have identified Oswestry as having 'great potential' for their pizzas and if they opened a store it would create many jobs.

The announcement comes days after KFC revealed it is due to open its restaurant in five weeks time.

KFC is bringing a drive-through to the town which will create 45 jobs and its bosses have been working to recruit staff. They have been looking to employ an assistant restaurant general manager and team leaders.

It is being built on the Oswestry Gateway development, near the Mile End roundabout. KFC will be joined by Starbucks which is creating a premises close by.

Speaking about plans for Oswestry, a Domino's Pizza spokesperson said: "Domino's has 810 stores in the UK, Republic of Ireland, Germany and Switzerland and has a goal to increase this to 1,200 stores by 2021."

"We've identified Oswestry as having great potential and are currently looking at possible sites. Opening a store will generate 25-35 new jobs."

Business is in the running for top award after one year

A MOTHER who launched her own business so she could spend more time with her newborn son has been nominated for a top national award.

Helen Jones launched Baby Sensory Shropshire last year after deciding she did not want to go back into full-time work following the birth of her little boy Tobey.

Just one year after launching the sensory classes, aimed at newborn babies to 13 months, she has now been nominated for one of the categories in the prestigious What's On 4 2013 Junior Awards. The Junior Awards have been supported by ABC Magazine and celebrates the best activities, classes, volunteers and venues from across the UK.

Mrs Jones, 31, runs classes designed to support babies' sensory development through activities and play in Oswestry and Shrewsbury.

She was nominated for an award in the Most Outstanding Activity Leader for the Under 5s (West and Wales) category by parents and parents-to-be and will now go through to the national voting stage.

She said "I am so pleased to have been nominated for this fantastic award. Working with beautiful babies is so rewarding, it's the best job in the world and I love it. I am extremely grateful to everybody that voted for me."

The winners will be announced by TV celebrity host Lucy Piper at Brighton Racecourse during a champagne awards ceremony on June 30.

What's On 4 UK owners Marilyn Bradshaw & Bev O'Sullivan said: "We're so excited about our 2013 Awards especially as this year the UK awards are running alongside both the Australian and Ireland What's On 4 Junior Awards."

"Everyone through to this stage should be very proud that the nation's parents are so keen to nominate and reward them. We can't wait to see the results of the voting."

Voting for nominees ends on May 28 and parents can log on to www.whatson4littleones.co.uk, www.whatson4schoolkids.co.uk and www.whatson4kidsparties.co.uk to vote for Mrs Jones and her Baby Sensory classes.

Parents wanting to find out more about Helen's Shropshire classes can email shropshire@babysensory.co.uk or call 07917794045.

Debbie Braddick and her friend, Amanda Arnold, hosted a Zumba disco at the Corbett School in Baschurch on Saturday just a week before the big race in London.

All the money raised will be going toward a £500,000 appeal for a new bone cancer centre at the orthopaedic hospital in Oswestry.

Debbie said she was indebted to her friend and Zumba teacher Amanda, who has also been helping with the training runs, week in and week out.

Debbie, 43, who runs the Cabello hair studio in Frankwell, Shrewsbury, took the plunge to do the London Marathon 2013 after running half marathons in the past.

She said: "I decided I didn't want to one day regret that I had never done a marathon. When I realised I could do London and raise money for the centre at the orthopaedic hospital it was perfect."

Mother's backing for legal fund bid

THE mother of two girls born prematurely has hit out plans to transfer her nearest special baby care unit to the Wirral.

Donna Harrington from Llangynog in Mid Wales went into labour early with her children, Emilie, seven, and Evie, five.

She says if she had to go to Arrow Park Hospital, near Birkenhead, instead of Wrexham Maelor Hospital the strain would have been tremendous.

The Betsi Cadwaladr University Health Board's proposals for transfer of neonatal services from Wrexham to the Wirral have been met with protests.

Campaigners have launched a fund to try to fund a judicial review.

Mrs Harrington said that Emilie spent three weeks in the Wrexham unit after being born seven weeks premature, but when Evie was born at 30 weeks, the unit was full. "They had to transfer us to Llandudno Hospital in North Wales," she said.

Campaigners battling to stop the transfer of intensive care services for babies born more than 13 weeks early from North Wales to Arrow Park have set up a legal fighting fund to take the health board to court.

North Wales Health Alliance wants to take the board to a judicial review.

Event will help raise funds for charities

FOR years women have been walking and running to raise funds and awareness for cancer – now men are urged to do the same.

A Rotarian in Oswestry has decided it is time men stand up for cancer and is organising a five-kilometre walk in aid of charities including Prostate Cancer UK and Orchid, a charity fighting male cancer.

Men Walking For Men will take place on May 12 starting at Oswestry School Playing fields, in Upper Brook Street from 10am.

People will have to sign in at the Pavilion on Maes y Llan, at Oswestry School, from 8am.

Oswestry rotarian John Ward is organising the event. He said: "The Rotary Club of Oswestry is holding a health awareness day and there are three women going round trying to make men more aware of their health."

"The women do the work and they have been doing Race For Life for Cancer Research UK for many years. We men are still doing nothing, it is about time we got up and did something, so we are organising the walk."

Walkers must register in advance and pay £10 – see <https://mydonate.bt.com/events/menwalkingforment/96085>.

Alternatively, visit www.rotarycluboswestry.co.uk or call 07803019999.

Movement centre rewards youngsters for hard work

YOUNGSTERS from across the Oswestry area were honoured at an annual awards day.

Oswestry-based charity The Movement Centre, a leading cerebral palsy centre, held its annual awards at The Venue, in Park Hall near Oswestry.

Some of the young patients who have progressed well, some walking for the very first time, received awards for all their hard work and bravery in front of their proud parents.

Children who have recently completed a course of targeted training therapy were invited to the party to collect certificates and awards.

The Lady Sue Trevor Award trophy was presented to four-year-old William Armstrong. William could not sit or stand when he first started his 'targeted training' last year, but by the end he completed a sponsored walk last year while raising nearly £1,000 for The Movement Centre.

His mother Danielle Armstrong said she was proud of her son, who has a similar condition to cerebral palsy.

She said: "When William first started at The Movement Centre he couldn't even hold his head up now he has walked a mile. I am really proud of him."

"He got the award as a thank you for all the hard work he has done. He has finished the course now and it is nice to be at the awards."

"He has been going to the centre for almost three years."

"It is amazing to see him now, he has worked really hard."

Rhona Avery, a spokeswoman for the awards, said: "The awards went really well. All the children enjoyed it. We had a really good time this year."

Cadbury Chirk donated a chocolate hamper as a raffle prize and Nigel Edwards from Cadbury was on hand to give donated Easter eggs to all the children, who also enjoyed party food, face painting and soft play.

For details on The Movement Centre or targeted training visit www.the-movement-centre.co.uk or call (01691) 404248.

The Movement Centre charity is based at The Robert Jones & Agnes Hunt Hospital, Oswestry, and provides targeted training – a specialist physiotherapy service for children with cerebral palsy and other movement control difficulties.

Runner's marathon challenge for cause

WHEN Mark Blakeley had to have his knees 'reconstructed' after years of footballing injuries he thought his sporting days were over.

But on Sunday Mark, 34, of St Martins, near Oswestry, will take part in the London Marathon, raising money for Alzheimer's Research UK.

His bid to raise funds for the dementia charity is linked with his job as the manager of an Iceland food store on Shropshire/north Wales border.

Mr Blakeley said: "Since Iceland has been supporting Alzheimer's Research UK it's opened my eyes to the enormity of this disease and the dreadful lack of funding for research."

"I ran the London Marathon for the charity last year and couldn't resist doing it for a second time. I'm hoping to improve my time of 4 hours 40 minutes."

He added: "I had both my knees reconstructed four years ago as a result of football injuries and shied away from sport after that. But the London Marathon has inspired me to get active again."

CHRONICLE BUSINESS CLUB AWARDS 2013

Firms count down to big night

THE clock is ticking and businesses are counting down to the Oswestry & Border Chronicle Business Awards presentation night.

That's when the best of the area's businesses learn who has won the major honours in the Oswestry & Border Chronicle Business Awards for 2013.

The event is being held by the Chronicle in association with Oswestry Chamber of Commerce and will be hosted by The Lion Quays Resort on Wednesday, May 1.

The Chronicle is bringing together businesses from our circulation area across Oswestry, Welshpool and the surrounding towns and villages to showcase all that is good about the region.

We have teamed up with the resort and the chamber to celebrate the rich resource of skills and people who thrive and prosper in today's challenging marketplace.

Standard

Whether employing a handful of staff or a workforce of hundreds; whether turning over thousands of pounds or millions of pounds; operating in a new service sector or a long established area of manufacturing, you came forward in numbers to tell us how good you were.

Scores of companies and individuals vied for places in this year's final and our panel of independent judges were impressed by the standard of entries.

Now all the lucky finalists, together with our sponsors and other representatives from the business community, will enjoy hospitality at the Lion Quays Resort when the winners will be announced and nine major awards presented.

Graham Breeze, The Chronicle's associate editor, said he was delighted that the resort had agreed to host the event and that the Chamber of Commerce was involved for the second year running.

"The Chronicle celebrated its second birthday in March and this partnership has emphasised the regard in which the newspaper is held by the business community," he said.

"Our standing is reflected in the fantastic number of entries we received from the business community for our awards scheme."

"The economic climate may not be good but many businesses in our circulation area are thriving through innovation and determination and many have outstanding success stories to tell.

"Our gratitude goes to the owners and staff at the fabulous Lion Quays Resort for agreeing to host the annual awards ceremony again. We are delighted to be partnering with the Chamber of Commerce and the resort," added Mt Breeze.

"We are also indebted to our sponsors, Lanyon Bowdler Solicitors, The Lion Quays, Turner Peachey Accountants, The Pickstock Group, The Charlotte Harty Foundation, Oswestry, Chamber of Commerce, Aubrey Kirkham Funeral Directors and Morris Cook Chartered Accountants."

Heather Noble, chairman of Oswestry Chamber of Commerce, said: "The chamber is once again delighted to be supporting the Chronicle Business Awards."

"This annual event provides a fantastic platform for all us to celebrate some of the great business achievements that can be found right on our doorstep."

"There can be no doubt as to the calibre of businesses that exist in the region and it makes absolute sense that we should celebrate those who have taken the time to enter the awards this year. Stiff competition, as always, means that not everyone can be a winner but we hope that everyone involved will take some benefit from the whole process. It is often a great chance to take a step back from your business and consider all of the things in which you excel. We would like to wish good luck to everyone who has made it to the final stages and look forward to celebrating with you on 1st May at The Lion Quays."

"Whatever the final outcome, please do take time to celebrate your achievement in coming this far and, perhaps more importantly, keep doing your bit for the local economy. It has fantastic impact on everyone around you."

Lyn Pearson, marketing and events manager at The Lion Quays, said: "We are pleased to be able to support and host the Chronicle Business Awards."

"This will be Oswestry's second major business awards event and holding it at The Lion Quays gives us the opportunity to showcase the outstanding facilities that we have available."

Helping others in her memory

Charlotte's brother will attend event

by Graham Breeze

THE Charlotte Hartley Foundation was set up by Charlotte's family in her memory after she died tragically at the age of 16 on July 31, 2009, due to complications arising from having been misdiagnosed of suffering from swine flu.

The Business Development Programme provides money and support to help young people.

Practical

If you have a business idea, and are aged 16-25, the Business Development Programme could be for you.

The scheme offers practical and financial support to the young people who need it most when starting up in business, helping develop key skills, confidence and motivation and enabling young people to fulfil their business dreams and potential.

The scheme supports young people to work out if their business ideas are viable and whether self-employment is right for them.

Depending on the outcome of this process, the programme can then offer financial support to start a business or secure goals in employment, education or training.

Applications for start-up funding

Guests pictured at a fundraising gala dinner in aid of the Charlotte Hartley Foundation which is supported wholly by generous public donations and fund raising activities.

are assessed in relation to a number of factors including perceived risk, business viability and individual need.

The registered foundation provides local financial resources in the form of gifts to youth clubs, schools and organisations and fund structured, purposeful projects and ventures, giving youths the opportunity of reaching their full potential. The Charlotte Hartley Foundation is supported wholly by generous public donations and fund raising activities.

Many organisations in the Oswestry area have benefitted in funding from the Charlotte Hartley Foundation. Here, Karl Hartley is seen presenting a cheque from the foundation to Michelle Hart of the Kingswell Community Centre in Oswestry.

Mike Lade of Osyteers volunteer group is seen receiving a cheque from Karl Hartley.

Tristan Hartley will be the guest speaker at the Business Awards

TRISTAN Hartley of the Charlotte Hartley Foundation will be the guest speaker at the Oswestry & Border Chronicle Business Awards presentation night.

Mr Hartley, 22, a wealth manager at Applewood Associates and brother of the late Charlotte, will speak at the function at Lion Quays Resort on May 1.

The Charlotte Hartley Foundation provides funding to start-up businesses, youth clubs, schools and organisations.

CHRONICLE BUSINESS CLUB AWARDS 2013

Chamber of Commerce backs Chronicle awards

by Graham Breeze

THE Oswestry & Border Chronicle Business Awards are once again being held in association with Oswestry Chamber of Commerce.

And the chamber has a new chairman with Heather Noble, of Salt Solutions in Gobowen, taking over the reins from Martin Anderson.

Mrs Noble, who is as enthusiastic about the partnership between the Chronicle as the chamber's previous leader, said that she hoped to use her position to carry on 'strengthening and broadening the reach of Oswestry'. She said the chamber was once again delighted to be supporting the Chronicle Business Awards.

"This annual event provides a fantastic platform for all us to celebrate some of the great business achievements that can be found right on our doorstep.

"There can be no doubt as to the calibre of businesses that exist in the region and it makes absolute sense that we should celebrate those who have taken the time to enter the awards this year.

"Stiff competition, as always, means that not everyone can be a winner but we hope that everyone involved will take some benefit from the whole process. It is often a great chance to take a step back from your business and consider all of the things in which you excel. We would like to wish good luck to everyone who has made it to the final stages and look forward to celebrating with you on May 1 at The Lion Quays.

"Whatever the final outcome, please do take time to celebrate your achievement in coming this far and, perhaps more importantly, keep doing your bit for the local economy."

Heather Noble, the new chairman of Oswestry Chamber of Commerce.

Morning brews up £260 for hospice

ELLESMERE Friends of Hope House raised about £260 at a coffee morning held at the town's Comrades Club.

Visitors enjoyed coffee and homemade biscuits before browsing stalls which sold cakes, handbags and spring scarves.

Organisers say the tombola proved popular, while the raffle raised almost £70.

Draw winners were Barbara Harrington, Jean Milman, Sue Dowdy, Jean Newcombe, Eira Burgess, Cath Meekes, Pam Bellingham and Doreen Roberts.

Generous

Averil MacDonald, chairman of the group, said: "We'd like to thank all the generous people of Ellesmere who attended this event and kindly gave donations for the raffle."

"We are very grateful to every one of them."

Following the recent AGM, plans have been made for fundraising events in the coming year, which include the Shrewsbury Police Male Voice Choir performing at Ellesmere Town Hall on May 18.

Tickets and further information are available by calling (01691) 622510 or e-mailing averil.macdonald@btinternet.com

Councillors back calls for town to be 20mph zone

OSWESTRY could become the country's latest 20mph town after councillors backed calls for a blanket speed reduction.

Councillors gave their support to the move after hearing a cut in the town centre speed limit from 30mph to 20mph could be the difference between life and death for pedestrians and cyclists involved in road accidents.

They were told about 500 people in the town had signed petitions for a reduction in the speed limit. And they agreed to back a notice of motion by town councillor Saffron Rainey calling for the speed cut request to be passed on to county highways bosses.

Cycle race bid wins backing

A PLAN to introduce a new cycling event which would bring up to 1,000 athletes to Oswestry has won the backing of town councillors.

Councillors said the Alpe D'Huoz event would bring in thousands of pounds to the local economy and would be a boost to B&Bs, hotels and restaurants in the town.

They were told this year's inaugural event would be held over one day and plans were in place to extend to a weekend long event next year.

The plans have been put together by town councillor Saffron Rainey, who told a council meeting the event was set to take place on July 21. He asked for the council's support for the event in principle, saying the first event this year would be held on a single day and was aimed at creating one of the best cycling events in the country.

A report from the councillor said it was hoped to expand the event to two days next year. It was supported in principle.

Councillor Rainey said implementation of similar schemes in other towns had proved successful.

The councillor said exactly how large the 20mph zone would be decided by public consultation but suggested it could include the town centre conservation area and connect to outlying roads that already have 20mph zones including Upper Church Street, Upper Brook Street and Middleton Road.

He said the move would help reduce deaths and serious injuries on the town's roads and also tackle health issues.

He said: "A recent survey shows up to 70 per cent of pedestrians and drivers support it. It would encourage good health and encourage walking and cycling, tackling the health crisis. We have the worst obesity rate in Europe."

Councillor Rainey said Oswestry cyclist Sarah-Charlotte Peace, who suffered serious injuries in a road accident last year, backed the 20s Plenty campaign.

Councillor Romer Hoseason said a 20mph limit worked in other towns such as Portsmouth and he backed the move.

Councillor Heather Bickerton also backed the calls but said she was worried how the limit would be enforced. Councillor Betty Gull added: "For it to work you have to carry the people of Oswestry with you."

The town council voted to take the motion to the unitary authority for further exploration.

Trees planted on town green

Volunteer Ethan Stote helps with the planting at Wilfred Owen Green.

A TEAM of volunteers rolled up their sleeves and dug in to help plant trees in a town park in Oswestry.

Shropshire Council and members of the Cambrian Heritage Railway Orchard Project teamed up to plant trees on Wilfred Owen Green as part of improvements for the area. The 12 volunteers planted walnut, Black Mulberry and crab apple trees as well as a large leaf lime tree - which they hope will attract bees - near to the Cambrian Surgery, in Thomas Savin Road.

Shaun Burkey, from Shropshire Council, led the project. He said the town green was used by the former railway so there was a lot of brick and rubble in the soil which had to be removed before the planting.

Mr Burkey said: "We are trying to give the green long term management. We have got to think what do we want it to look like in 50 years."

Andrew Tullow from CHR orchard project said the railway was keen to support the development of the town green.

Dance to bring in cash for charities

A DANCE will be held to raise funds for charities close to the organiser's heart.

Eleanor Ingham-Stone will host the springtime charity evening at Oswestry Cricket Club on April 25.

The proceeds will be shared between Action Duchenne Muscular Dystrophy and Severn Hospice in Shrewsbury.

Mrs Ingham-Stone, from Wilfred Owen Road in Oswestry, has a grandson, Tomas, 12, who has the debilitating disease and is now confined to a wheelchair.

Over the past five years Mrs Ingham-Stone has raised more than £5,000 for the charity.

Money will also be raised for Severn Hospice which cared for her late husband in the last days of his life. Andrew Stone died 12 months ago in the hospice.

"Anyone who has been there or has had friends or relatives there knows what an excellent place it is. Andrew spent the last five days of his life in the hospice, where staff where marvellous keeping him pain free and comfortable."

The evening will include food and entertainment by Paul Challinor and Alan Williams. Tickets at £12 are available from Mrs Ingham-Stone on (01691) 656193.

Rising star due to play the Ironworks

GIG GUIDE

with Edward Roberts

MUSIC fans are in for a treat this week as the Ironworks plays host to Gregory S. Davies, a rising star of the Shropshire music scene.

With support from his backing band, he plays an intriguing mix of gypsy jazz, blues and boogie woogie, with a healthy dose of Americana thrown in for good measure.

Recently his single Rat-Trap was featured on BBC Radio Shropshire as its 'Song of the Month' for March.

Apart from singer-songwriter Gregory S. Davies, the band also includes Sam Dougherty on drums, John Griffiths on bass, Dan Roberts on guitar, and Melissa Tunnis on violin.

Gregory has just released a 14-track album titled 'Santiago L.P.' which is available as a digital download for £3 or as a CD with accompanying sleeve artwork and case for £5, and is available from the bands website.

The gig will also feature support from the excellent Little Red Bird and Sam Johnson. For those of you who haven't heard of Little Red Bird, they play a combination of bluegrass, old timey music and Americana. The duo consists of Louisa Jones on vocals and Matt Morris handling vocals, guitar and banjo. You can expect beautiful harmonies and superb musicianship, as well as a friendly chat between songs. The gig starts at 8pm with entry costing £3.

The Gregory S Davies Band.

If you're looking for something to do tonight the Ironworks will be holding the Osfest Battle of the Bands.

The event will see local groups compete for a place at this year's Osfest. Doors open at 6pm and the show kicks off at 7.30pm. Entry is free.

The Lowefield Inn, Marton, will be featuring live music from Geoff Rodgers on Friday night.

Geoff is a singer-songwriter who plays a mixture of self-penned songs and covers by the likes of Bob Dylan and Creedence Clearwater Revival, all of which are accompanied by his superb fingerstyle playing. A self-described 'human jukebox', Geoff can play a vast array of different material from all sorts of genres, ranging from classic tracks to contemporary hits. The gig starts at 8pm and is free entry.

In Welshpool on Friday night, After Dark will be performing at the Royal Oak. Entry is free and starts at 9pm.

The Ironworks will hold another of its successful Jazz lunches on Sunday, featuring the music of Ironworks regulars the Chicago Swing Katz.

Conjuring up the sounds of 1920s New Orleans, the six-piece play some of the best tunes from the Swing Era.

It starts at 12.30pm and carries on until noon. Entry is £4. Next Tuesday night, the Ironworks holds its open mic night, Limelight. If you think you can entertain a crowd, whether your talent is music, poetry or comedy. The evening is hosted by Tom Stedman and starts at 9pm. Entry is free.

Celebrating choir's 30th anniversary

OSWESTRY choir Cantiones turns 30 this year and, to celebrate, there will be a 30th anniversary concert with the Border Chamber Orchestra on Saturday at Holy Trinity Church, Oswestry.

The choir was formed in 1983 by Mike Smith, the then choirmaster and organist of St Oswald's Parish Church.

At first it was a small group but has grown and now has about 36 members, several of whom have been with the choir since the beginning.

The programme for the Anniversary Concert includes the Durufle requiem, Mozart's Missa Brevis in D, Handel's Chandos anthem (no 9) and Mendelssohn's duet 'I waited for the Lord'.

A choir spokesman said: "The music is quite challenging and we have been working hard on it since the beginning of the year. It is very enjoyable and rewarding to sing and we hope the audience will enjoy it."

"Durufle's Requiem is a beautiful and moving piece, based on Gregorian themes of the Mass of the Dead, but with 20th century harmonies and rhythms with a glorious solo, Pie Jesu, for mezzo soprano.

For their part, Mozart and Handel need no introduction. We are delighted to be supported by our friends of the Border Chamber Quartet; we have always enjoyed performing with them in the past.

"We are hoping that as many of our supporters will come to help us to celebrate 30 wonderful years."

The choir will be conducted by Gerry Howe, one of the choir's longest-serving Music Directors, and accompanied by the Border Chamber Quartet made up of talented local string players and Shirley Newman on the piano, who have regularly accompanied Cantiones.

The concert on Saturday starts at 7.30pm, at Holy Trinity Church, Oswestry. Tickets are £8 from The Heritage Centre, Rowan-thorn in Old Chapel Court Oswestry, and also from choir members or on the door.

Gallery hosts events

TWO art professionals will be visiting a gallery in Oswestry to teach people their skills.

The Willow Gallery will be hosting a felt-making event on April 27 with Sue Mulcock from 10.30am until 4pm.

Those taking part can take home the felt pieces they have created. The event costs £35 including all materials.

There will also be a photography workshop on April 27 from 1pm until 4pm, led by Tony Edmonds. The afternoon will cost £12 and people will need to bring along their own digital camera.

Town hall roof bill could hit £43,200

UP to £43,200 could be taken out of a council's reserves to fix a leaking roof at a town hall, it has been revealed.

Four leaks have been found in the flat roof at Ellesmere Town Hall. The roof has been described as 'like a patchwork' by users who have called for urgent action to be taken.

Currently buckets have been laid out on the floor to catch the water.

Quotes of up to £43,220 have been received by Ellesmere Town Council to carry out the necessary repairs. The money will come from the council's reserves, which currently stand at about £66,000.

Councillor Alan Clarke, mayor of the town, said it was a shame that the money will have to be spent at a time when things are tight.

He said: "It is one of those situations where you find one leak and repair it then a few months later find another one, it is like a patchwork."

"We are looking for a more permanent solution whether it is remedial work or replacing the roof."

"It is a major expense in the budget and it is an unwanted expense."

"But because things are tight the quotes tend to be more competitive."

The building was built in the 1960s.

Wartime memories stirred

by Toby Neal

JOHN Powell of Oswestry really stirred some memories when he wondered what had happened to a Belgian family he could recall as a child but who suddenly disappeared during the war.

The reason given to him was that the father was unmasked as a German spy but, if you've been following our letters page, you'll know that almost certainly was not right and the likelihood is that they were Jews who had fled Nazi persecution.

John has dropped us a line to keep us in touch with developments.

"Thank you for publishing the letter that I sent to you a few weeks ago concerning the son and daughter of a neighbour in Oak Drive, Oswestry, where I lived during World War Two," says John, who recalled two children, Paul and Eve, who were about his age at the time.

"The surname of the two children was Kessira - not Kocira as I had guessed. Knowing the correct spelling of the name made tracing easier!"

"The item has produced a response from retired solicitor, Alan Johnson, whom I know quite well. He had also tried to trace Paul Kessira with whom he was quite friendly."

"The Kessira family had left the area quite suddenly and Alan thought that they had emigrated to Canada. The suggestion that their father was a spy is probably wrong as, according to Alan, Mr Kessira was connected with the Belgian Embassy in Britain. "Alan had traced a Paul Kessira who attended Oxford University, from Canada, but had been unable to make actual contact. Your help here has enabled me to discover Paul, Eve and their parents had not been 'the enemy' so it is a relatively happy ending."

To John's follow-up above and to tie up some loose ends, we should mention that both Alan and another correspondent,

Final touches for miniature caravan project

DONALD Butlin, of Oswestry, applies some finishing touches to a model gipsy caravan he made back in March 1972. And there's an interesting background to how to come to make it in the first place. Mr Butlin, of Fir Grove, had made it for The Seekers Jazz Band which played at numerous events during the carnival season. The band wanted a caravan to illustrate one of their numbers, "Oh Play To My Gipsy." Mr Butlin offered to make it and the only guide he had was a photograph. To make transport easy the caravan could be taken apart and put back together again in a matter of seconds.

Frances Davies, give the spelling as Kasser, and Frances says the family lived in the house of her parents, Arthur and Evelyn Barnett, of 13 Oak Drive, Oswestry. Frances, who still lives in that house, added:

"I had believed the family to be Jewish. My brother Nicholas Barnett confirms that they were Belgian. He believes they were jewellers and left to go to London." Alan says a friend who was organising a school reunion some years ago did make inquiries about the family with the Belgian Embassy in London and was told they probably went to Canada. Sadly the trail went cold and efforts to trace them proved to be no avail.

New-look Sorento will give Kia even more kerb appeal

Drive time with Graham Breeze

KIA SALES went through the roof in March with 12,608 vehicles delivered to customers and the new Sorento has played a big part in the jump.

January to March was Kia's best first quarter since the height of the Government's scrappage scheme in 2010 which sent sales soaring.

With 19,204 vehicles registered in the first three months Kia captured a 3.17 per cent share of the new car market – up by almost 12 per cent against 2012.

The March figures showed a near 13 per cent increase against 2012's figure of 11,178.

Launched in the UK last September, the newly upgraded Sorento has a long list of improvements including a new platform, revised engines, enhanced interior quality and a smarter, more modern look.

The Sorento range comes only with a 2.2 litre turbo-diesel engine but with a host of emission-reducing and fuel-stretching features.

Available with a choice of manual or automatic transmissions and seven seats as standard the Sorento range starts at £26,495 and jumps to over £35,000 at the top end.

The most recent upgrade moves the Sorento closer than ever to becoming a premium SUV. It was already an outstanding 4x4s on the market and now it's better than ever.

There's an awful lot of competition in the SUV market and while this Kia comes at the lower end of the price chain there's an argument that there are better options in the sector.

But there are huge advantages to buying a

The new-look Sorento has seven-seats and seven-year warranty

Kia, none more than the standard, seven year warranty. Buyers can also fix their running costs with three years servicing and MOT for just £379.

The Sorento's 194bhp 2.2-litre diesel engine is strong and flexible and comes with a choice of manual or automatic boxes.

There's no doubting that the Sorento is a big car and you are aware of it when behind the wheel and despite a bit of twitching around on country roads you are always confident that there's enough grip to get you home safely.

There's nothing too fussy in the cabin and you might argue that Kia has cut some cost corners, but while things aren't as refined as in many opposition models it's hard to criticise too much.

Controls are sensibly laid out and the high seating position means you get a great view.

With the seats down the load area on the Sorento is vast

The steering wheel adjusts for reach and rake so there's no excuse for not getting comfortable.

Safety is high on Kia's agenda and front-seat occupants are protected by front and side airbags, while window airbags run the full length of the cabin. Stability control is also standard across the range.

Luggage

The Sorento scored a maximum five-star rating in Euro NACP crash tests and comes complete with deadlocks, an alarm and an immobilizer. One massive plus is that CO2 emissions are only 155 g/km in the entry model and only rise to 178 g/km for the range-topping KX-3. All Sorentos have seven seats, but like in all models in this segment you wouldn't catch me travelling too far as a rear seat passenger – there simply isn't enough leg room for anyone other than a child. If you demand plenty of luggage space the Kia is right up your street and there's even more room when you fold the rear seats into the floor to display a huge load area.

The entry-level KX-1 model on test came with alloy wheels, front and rear electric windows, air-conditioning, cruise control and automatic headlights. The more expensive KX-2 versions adds heated leather seats, privacy glass and rain-sensing wipers while the range-topping KX-3 has larger alloys, Xenon headlights, a panoramic glass roof, electric seats and sat-nav.

The Sorento is without doubt a value-for-money option in the SUV sector and when you throw in the seven year warranty it's easy to see why Kia sales are on the increase.

Mazda3 models upgraded but price stays the same

Mazda has enhanced three of its special edition Mazda3 models with more equipment, while prices are unchanged.

Two Venture models, one powered by a 1.6-litre petrol and the other by a 1.6 diesel, share a selection of new features, while the high-end Mazda3 Sport Nav, with a 2.2-litre diesel under the bonnet, receives a different set of extras.

The Venture duo, introduced last year, will benefit from 17in 'bright finish' alloy wheels, rear parking sensors, black mica door mirrors and new black upholstery with contrasting red stitching. There is also the £495 option of a new exterior paint colour: Zeal Red Mica.

Prices for the enhanced models, which already had an upgraded standard specification, are unchanged, starting at £17,495 on the road for the 104bhp 1.6-litre petrol engine and rising to £18,995 for the 113bhp 1.6-litre diesel.

The Mazda3 Sport Nav can also now count extra equipment among its benefits. Its rear light clusters have been upgraded to LEDs, and a heated windscreen adds an invaluable touch of practicality. As standard, it is powered by a 182bhp diesel engine that provides huge in-gear acceleration.

Again its price has remained static at £20,995 on the road.

Until the end of June this year, customers can choose 0 per cent finance with zero deposit and monthly payments from just £274 for a Venture and from £323 for the Sport Nav.

The Mazda 3 Venture edition brings extra equipment and a 2.2-litre diesel engine

The new Citroen C4 Picasso which has a larger boot, two large colour displays and lower emissions

Citroen's new Picasso set to be a free road tax work of art

Citroen has released the first details of the new C4 Picasso, highlighting its larger boot, lower emissions and two large colour displays.

The sharply styled model, which Citroen claims is the first compact MPV to offer the possibility to dip below the 100g/km threshold for free road tax, uses a new modular platform that has enabled up to 140kg to be saved and interior space to be increased thanks to a front overhang that has been shortened by 70mm.

A range of engines at the car's launch will include new Euro 6-compliant diesels with power outputs from 89bhp to 148bhp.

Manual and automated manual gearboxes will also be available, with a traditional automatic transmission pencilled in for early 2014.

The highlights of the new engine line-up include the entry-level 89bhp-HDi with 74mpg and just 98g/km of CO₂, making it very cost-effective.

Arguably even better is the 148bhp BlueHDi diesel, which only emits 110g/km of carbon dioxide.

More details and prices will follow from the Citroen headquarters in the coming weeks, with the first deliveries of the new C4 Picasso models expected to arrive in the autumn.

Oswestry Ladies end season on a real high

Chester and District 1
Oswestry Ladies 4

AFTER an incredible season that has seen Oswestry Ladies win all but one of their matches, the local team finished on a high when they beat Chester and District away, last Saturday, writes Edward Roberts.

It was their final match of the season and a game that had previously been delayed due to bad weather.

After a surprise loss to Alderley Edge last time out which put an end to their unbeaten streak, the 14 strong Oswestry side were determined to impress, and impress they did.

Getting off to a positive start, Oswestry pushed the action in an attempt to get an early goal.

It was an intense affair with both teams vying for control.

Tracey Royle capitalised on the early pressure from Oswestry slotting the ball in the back of the net, unfortunately play was brought back to an earlier infringement.

The Chester goalkeeper put in an impressive performance, pulling off a number of good saves when called upon.

Oswestry gained the upper hand in possession, leading to their first official goal of the match.

Stunning

In reaction to this, Chester redoubled their efforts and quickly equalised the score.

Oswestry managed to extend their lead with a second goal just before the half-time whistle.

The second half saw a more dominant performance from the away team, as Becci Duxbury did a great job of co-ordinating the Oswestry defence in the absence of the normal centre back.

Oswestry managed to score a further two goals, securing their win.

Two of the goals were scored by Sarah Lowe who put in a player of the match performance, whilst Sandra Jones made a stunning individual goal, taking the ball past a number of Chester players and Deb Hampson scored with a cracking deflected shot from a short corner.

The win caps a fantastic season for Oswestry Ladies which sees them finish at the top of Division 3, having scored 103 goals while conceding only 18. Oswestry will be looking to continue this success as they take on the challenge of Division 2.

Golf returns

THERE were 115 entrants for the April medal at Oswestry Golf Club. Division 1 winner was Matthew Knapper with 76-77. He won on countback from Martin Jones 72-5-67 with Simon Pound third with a 77-9-68. He also won on countback from John Ruth who shot 77-9-68. Fifth and sixth places went to David Thomas, 76-6-70 and Robin Rees 78-8-70.

The Division Two winner was John Bate, 80-13-67 on countback from Phil Hayward 82-15-67. Third place went to Campbell Colquhoun 69. Next was Malcolm Smith 81-12-69 and Andy Jones 85-14-71. Sixth was Richard Holmes 85-15-71.

In Division Three the winner with 88-20-687 was Neil Brogden. He won from Lee Evans with 99-28-71 and Bill Littler 90-18-72. Keith Osgood was next with 91-19-72. Tommy Griffith was fifth with 91-18-73 and he was followed by Carl Woosnam 91-17-74.

The best gross score was a 72 from Martin Jones.

Wizards get ready for action

A NEWLY formed basketball team has launched in Oswestry – and officials are looking for new players as well as kit sponsors and volunteers for game nights.

Called the Oswestry Wizards – or Wizards of Oz – training starts on Monday evening, April 22 at Ellesmere College (from 8-10), with the first session free. Being a new team just starting out, they are hoping for support and help from the local community.

They plan to play in the North Wales League in October, and anyone interested in joining or helping out, should contact Rob Wallace on 07854-937987.

The club recently entered a friendly tournament at Shrewsbury sports village and came third after narrowly losing by two points in their final game. Next up is a summer league, before the North Wales League season gets underway in October.

Defending champions start campaign with easy victory

DEFENDING champions Crifftins A showed they again mean business this season as they launched their new campaign in the Oswestry and District Bowls League with an 8-2 home win over Corwen A.

Dave Edwards led the charge on a chilly first night of the season with a 21-3 victory, while there were three other single figure winners in a comfortable 60-shots success. Next week, Terry Thompson's side hit the road to Ceiriog A.

WESTON RHYN had a baptism of fire in the top flight when they suffered an opening night 10-0 whitewash at Johnstown A.

Newly promoted to division one this season, Rhyn found themselves well beaten by 86 shots, with only three players getting into double figures.

Derek Taylor was the best of the losers to 16.

"It was a disaster but we can only get better," said captain Brian Oakley who will be hoping his team can bounce back at home to Ruabon A next week.

WHITTINGTON A had a disappointing first night as they went down 6-4 on home soil to Ruabon A, who shaded the spoils after taking the shots aggregate by seven.

"It was a bad start," said captain Aled Davies.

"With the state of our green after the snow, we would have taken any kind of win, but Ruabon bowled the green better than us."

It was always going to prove tough going with Whittington having had little chance to get to grips with their own green following the poor weather.

Skipper Davies (21-12) provided one of the four wins, while Julian Turner was their best of the night when prevailing to seven. Their other two winners were Merv Davies (21-20) and Mel Morris (21-17). They now face the short trip to Church A next Tuesday as they bid to make a swift riposte.

LLANMYNECH A, who narrowly avoided relegation last term, were happy enough with their start as they finished 4-4 with visiting Chirk A, but lost the aggregate 152-121 for a 6-4 defeat.

"It's not a bad start as we usually struggle against Chirk," said captain Tony Pritchard. Newcomer Keith Bacon, who has joined from Weston Rhyn, marked his first appearance with a 21-20 win, while Mark Kirkham (21-14), James Candlin (21-15) and Paul Smith, who won to 19, were the other victors.

BOWLS

CHURCH A were left kicking their heels as their visit to newly promoted Flexsys A was postponed as their hosts were unable to prepare their green following recent heavy snow.

Delighted

The match has been rescheduled for next Monday, while Church entertain local rivals Whittington A the following night.

CHURCH B, back in division two this season after one season in the top flight, opened with an encouraging 7-3 (136-129) victory at home to OLDE CROFTE A.

Natalie Guilar, who has taken the captaincy this term, was delighted with her team's efforts, notably Graham Warren who battled through illness to secure a 21-13 victory.

Neil Williams, the captain of the club's C team, stepped up to help out and took the coppers with a fine 21-9 win, while Guilar, Glenys Jones and Cheryl Weaver were the other winners.

Gareth Parry was the pick of he winners for Olde Crofte with a 21-6 verdict. Next Wednesday Church travel to face Johnstown D.

LLANRHAEDR, who finished fourth last season, made a promising start with a comfortable 8-2 home win over Johnstown D, the first time that the players had set foot on their green this season after the recent cold spell.

There were three wins in each of the fours, with youngster David France (21-3) leading the way in a 147-109 aggregate win, while other single figure winners were Ian Jones (21-8) and Hywel Jones (21-9).

GEORGE got their season off to a flier with a 9-1 home beating of BLACK LION, taking the aggregate by 46, with Lance Leonard leading the way with a 21-7 success.

It was a disappointing night for Whittington all round.

While the first team were losing to Ruabon, the B string were well beaten 9-1 at Llangynog A.

First cricket match of season halted by rain

RAIN brought a halt to Oswestry's first cricket match of the season after Mark Robinson's side had turned in a fine bowling and fielding performance at Premier Division Wombourne.

The home side made 176-9 off their allotted 40 overs in a first-round tie in the Birmingham League's Graham Williamson Trophy, but then the rain prevented Oswestry from starting their innings.

Pick of the Oswestry bowlers were Jonathan Miles, who took 2-14 off his eight overs, Warrick Fynn (2-28) and skipper Robinson (1-24). The game will now be replayed, from scratch, at Wombourne this Saturday, with a trip to Shrewsbury awaiting the winners.

Oswestry's Third and Fourth teams begin their Shropshire County League campaigns this Saturday, with the Thirds visiting Wheaton Aston, and the Fourths taking on Market Drayton Seconds at Morda Road. The First XI start their League season with a home game against Water Orton on Saturday, April 27.

Action time at last for bowlers

AFTER a bleak winter, Wynnstay Bowling Club has at last opened its summer season. Held up by the freezing conditions, the club opened a week late with thanks to the efforts of the "green team" in clearing the snow and preparing the green. The club's captain, Janice Allport played the season's first bowl watched by club members and the club's president, Bill Roberts, centre.

Ifton lose but get five winners

IFTON, who have often toiled on the road in recent campaigns, showed plenty of spirit when they returned with five winners from their first trip of the season to Bowring in the Flowfit Shropshire Premier Bowls League.

Although eventually losing 9-5 (27 shots), there was plenty of encouragement, particularly in the manner of two fightbacks to secure wins in the middle four.

Player of the match Leighton Roberts ran out a 21-18 winner from eight in his encounter with Pete Griffiths, while skipper Dicky Jones was equally impressive when he overturned an 18-7 deficit to win to 20. After two matches, they won their first 9-5 (six shots) at home to new boys Burway on the opening night, Ifton lie eighth, and will be hoping for double figures when they welcome another new side Hadley USC to their St Martins green tomorrow night (Friday).

They make one change, with Giles Evans coming in for the unavailable Andrew Hughes who was narrowly beaten 21-20 last week. "Hadley won't know much about our green so we'll be looking for a double figure win," said skipper Dicky Jones.

Whittington D fight back to get a draw in thriller

OUTSIDE the top two divisions, one of the most gripping opening night matches was served up between Whittington D at home to Llanrhaeadr B in division five of the Oswestry and District Bowls League.

Visiting Llanrhaeadr had looked on course for the spoils as their first five all won, including Derek Saunders to 13.

But Whittington refused to surrender and roared back with late wins from Meirion Davies (21-8) and Edward Williams (21-7) helping them take the points aggregate 149-134 for an unlikely 5-5 draw.

It has been a testing start for WESTON RHYN whose 'D' string succumbed 7-3 (121-147) to Bersham, their best win coming at the end courtesy of Malcolm Jones (21-8).

YE OLDE CROFTE B were also 7-3 (135-144) losers on home soil, Geoff Thomas (21-11) their best winner.

Relegated to division three this season, CRIFTTINS B opened with a narrow 6-4 loss at Plas Kynaston A, the shots going 145-129 to the hosts.

After a slow start, the visitors won three of the last four, the best being Andrew Miner (21-8), but it wasn't enough.

CHURCH C made a disappointing start after last term's promotion as they were well beaten 9-1 at WESTON RHYN C (158-105).

Brian Davies led the charge with a 21-4 win at the top to take Rhyn's coffers, while Neil Williams (21-11) notched a consolation for the visitors.

CRIFTTINS C proved too strong for WHITTINGTON E as they ran out 8-2 winners, Neil Edwards (21-4) and Roger Barkley (21-13) among the victors, while John Harrison responded (21-14).

In division four, LLANFYLLIN A's fight-back just fell short as they went down 6-4 (138-133) at Llangynog C. They had been well behind but three wins in the last four gave them hope, Hugh Jones a 21-7 winner.

CHURCH D were well beaten 8-2 (120-150) at home to LLANMYNECH B, who wrapped up the win with single figure wins from Keith Malkin (21-7) and Basil Kirkham (21-9), with Jim Drury (21-11) the best of the responses.

ELLESMERE B continued last term's good form with a 10-0 rout of WESTON RHYN B, taking the shots by 99, with Beryl Hall a 21-0 winner.

Phil Roberts (21-7) helped LLANRHAEDR C see off Corwen 6-4 (149-132) while ELLESMERE A were too hot for WHITTINGTON C in winning 8-2 away, 49 shots, with Courtney Metcalfe a 21-7 winner. Bill Jerman (21-16) responded.

The tightest match in division six saw

LLANFYLLIN B salvage a 5-5 draw at CHURCH E after taking the shots by just two.

A closely fought affair, saw Church edge the eight games 5-3, helped by good single figure scores from Tony Dart (21-5) and Dot Thomas (21-6), but Llanfyllin earned parity on shots 116-114, with Jim Parry an impressive 21-2 victory.

LLANRHAEDR D edged out their club mates LLANRHAEDR E 6-4 (143-134). Bronwen Jones the pick for the victors with a 21-9 success while David France (21-11) was the best of the responses.

WESTON RHYN E were downed 8-2 (143-85) at Llangynog B, Ian Beckett getting a 21-4 consolation at the end.

Joan Roberts (21-8) led the way as LLANMYNECH C notched a fine 7-3 (132-117) away win at Johnstown E.

Champions Llandrinio marching on in cup hunt

CHAMPIONS Llandrinio are on the prowl for more silverware after sealing their place in the second round of the Mid Wales Trophy Consolation Cup.

Having already landed the Montgomeryshire League division two crown, the league leaders kept their flag flying in the Consolation Cup with a 2-1 passage at Kerry reserves with Neal Bebb and Adam Knight on target, with Curtis Smith responding.

Betts also progressed in the same competition, prevailing 2-1 at Newtown Wanderers courtesy of goals from Richard Williams, Matthew Williams and Jamie Huxley.

WATERLOO RES are flying high at the top of the Honda division one but – without a game last weekend – they have seen their lead trimmed to three points by Caersws reserves who also have three games in hand.

Caersws boosted their title prospects with a 7-1 beating of LLANSANTFFRAID RES with a hat-trick from Sam Williams, while Shane Swanton also scored twice.

LLANFAIR RES kept alive their chances off a top three finish with a 3-2 verdict at close rivals LLANRHAEDR RES with Jon Richards, Ashley Davies and Ben Jones on the mark.

MEIFOD finished 1-1 at home to GUILDFIELD RES, Andrew Weaver on target for the hosts while Dan Pritchard responded.

TREFONEN continue to hover close relegation danger after their 4-2 home loss to LLANGEDWYN who returned with the points with Gavin Wright scoring twice, and Peter Jones and Josh Edwards getting the others. Lee Morris and Jamie Jones found the net for the home side who are still third from bottom.

In the Mitsubishi division two, CHURCHSTOKE ended their league campaign with a 2-3 draw against visiting Carno reserves, James Durie and Joe Haycock on target.

Tigers roar to fine win over Tigers

IN only their second game since December, Oswestry Tigers notched a fine 2-0 home win over Saha Tigers in an excellent encounter.

In a evenly contested first half, Charlie Morris hit the bar with a fine effort, but the hosts took the lead in the second half when, after a flowing move, Sam Wall knocked the ball square to Max Thomas to slot into the net.

Saha went close but were met by some fine saves from keeper Alex Jones before another flowing move saw Olly Evans knock a through ball for player-of-the-match Wall to coolly finish for a 2-0 lead.

With Aaron Spelman putting in another fine performance, the Tigers saw the game out to seal a fine win. The Tigers followed it up with a 3-1 verdict at windy Preses Predators who had taken the lead with a scrambled effort after a goalless first period.

Despite playing against the wind in the second half, the Tigers started to pass the ball around with ease and Olly Evans broke through to level.

Evans then crossed for Sam Wall to give the Tigers the lead and late on Max Thomas sealed the win.

Late Ziemann header salvages point Villagers' survival fight gets a boost

MARTYN Ziemann's late header – his second goal of the game – managed to salvage a 2-2 draw for Guilsfield in their Cymru Alliance clash with Holyhead Hotspur at a rain-lashed Community Centre Ground.

The two halves could hardly have been more contrasting, with the Guils on the back foot and 2-0 down at the interval, before roaring back in the second period to gain a deserved point to maintain their creditable form since the turn of the year.

The fightback and character shown by the villagers will put them in good heart for a testing week – at home to Cefn Druids last night before travelling to Conwy Borough on Saturday.

Holyhead came out of the blocks from the first whistle and hardly looked like a side which had been inactive for a month.

With the wind and rain at their backs, the Anglesey side dominated the opening exchanges and adapted to the conditions better by playing the ball forward quickly.

Guilsfield failed to cope with the pace and movement of the opposition front line and were undone in the 15th minute after Mike Edwards' dangerous cross was unluckily prodded into the net by home defender Jonathan Jones.

Determined

The home side came unstuck again 10 minutes later as a quickly taken corner was fed to Edwards and another dangerous cross was met by Holyhead captain Gareth Owen who powered his header into the net.

The second half saw a complete turnaround with Guilsfield making the most of the conditions and determined to drag themselves back into the game.

The tireless Ziemann was rewarded for his efforts with a smartly taken shot evading Ben Heald in the Hotspur goal on 68 mins. The visitors were becoming increasingly worn down as their lack of game time was beginning to show, and Guilsfield thought their chance to equalise had come on 71 minutes after Ian Probert was tripped in the box.

The usually reliable Chris Cathrall took the spot kick but Heald produced a good save to deny the home side.

Undaunted, the Guils pressed on, dominating possession and territory as the Holyhead side tired further.

The equaliser finally came four minutes from time as Cookson's deep cross was met at the far post by Ziemann who headed home from a tight angle.

In the end, Holyhead were grateful to hang on to their hard earned point, while Guilsfield can look back on a display which showed plenty of character and determination.

TWO wonder goals lifted Llanrhaeadr off the foot of the Cymru Alliance table with a morale-boosting 2-0 win at fellow strugglers Ruthin Town.

The villagers still face a tough ask if they are to survive in the league, but they enjoyed a rare victory that saw them edge above their hosts in the basement.

A goal in each half saw them take the honours, Jamie Evans opening the scoring on 33 minutes when breaking from inside his own half before beating one defender and outpacing another, and then lifting the ball into the net from 25 yards.

The second on 64 minutes was even better, with Hamish Clifton launching a sensational 70-yard run before smashing his shot into the net from just inside the box via the post.

Boss Mario Iaquina was delighted to end the losing run, although he conceded his side still have plenty to do of they are to escape the drop, with at least three wins needed from their remaining five games.

"All I have said to the lads is to try and improve on last year," he said.

"We've got ourselves off the bottom of the table, we've now got one more win than last year and another three points would give us more points than last season."

Impressive

A wind affected affair saw few chances in the first half, which was only punctuated by Evans' fine strike that came after a swift raid upfield.

Ruthin, themselves battling for league survival, stormed forward early in the second period and it needed a resilient defensive display, Robert Fox and Emyr Roberts particularly impressive, and three excellent saves from keeper Darren Powell to keep them out.

However, a terrific solo goal from Clifton gave Llanrhaeadr a two goal lead that they never looked likely to relinquish.

They are now one point above Ruthin, but six adrift of Penycae with a game in hand. Next up is a trip to Buckley Town on Saturday, before hosting Guilsfield the following midweek.

Eagles trip to Douglas ends with a 86-0 defeat

OSWESTRY suffered a day they would want to forget when they crashed 86-0 at high riding Douglas as their recent slide in rugby's south Lancs and Cheshire Two continued.

Having been beaten 47-5 against Ormskirk at Granville Park the previous week, hopes of a change of fortune did not look too promising on the Isle of Man where the Eagles have yet to win.

And so it proved as second placed Douglas exploited their depleted hosts to maintain their own promotion hopes, while Oswestry have now slipped to ninth in the table, although still well clear of basement danger.

On Saturday, they are at home to mid-table Moore, where they will be hoping to halt the slump which has seen five defeats in their last six outings.

OSWESTRY II fared marginally better, but ended up beaten 45-22 at promotion chasing Wilslow III in the Raging Bull North West League division three (south).

The Eagles' second string have now lost their last four league outings to languish in the lower reaches.

They are third from bottom and face a crunch home clash with Moore II on Saturday, with their visitors lying one place below

Rangers agony at late goal winner

ELLESMERE Rangers must not dwell on their heart-breaking 3-2 defeat at fellow Midland Alliance strugglers Heath Hayes, club spokesman Mark McIntyre has said.

The Meresiders' were sunk by an 88th minute winner, less than 60 seconds after they had equalised, in a relegation 'six-pointer' in Cannock.

Karl Wallis's strike cancelled out Andy Davies' own-goal to hand Delwyn Humphreys' side their first defeat in eight matches, leaving them four points from safety.

Ellesmere now have just five games left to beat the drop and they face a testing end-of-season run in.

McIntyre admitted the defeat was a body blow but he insisted the players must banish Saturday's result from their thoughts as quickly as possible if they are to mount another run towards safety.

"When they scored the winner I was gobsmacked because we just had to kick it anywhere, defend like made for a few minutes and we'd have had a point, which was almost as good as a win at this stage of the season," he said.

Penalty

"It was a six-pointer and Heath Hayes have got the upper hand on us now so we probably still need to win three of our last five matches to survive.

"But we created enough chances to win the game and we have to look forward."

"I think the players will be able to kick on."

Ellesmere had taken the lead on 25 minutes when Tom Kelly slotted home on the rebound after Heath Hayes keeper Adam Lane had blocked Marcus Sharrod's initial effort.

But the hosts, who are now four points and two places above the Meresiders, equalised in similar fashion when Chad Degville-Cross also scored on the rebound.

Heath Hayes took a 50th minute lead from Chris Deakin's penalty after Kevin Renshaw was adjudged to have brought down Steven Allen in the box.

Ellesmere wasted several chances to equalise, with Dan Tolley and James O'Reilly both going close for the visitors.

When Renshaw's cross was accidentally diverted past Lane by Davies with just three minutes left it looked like Ellesmere would end up with a share of the spoils.

But Wallis's quick reactions in the next 45 seconds ensures that Ellesmere still have plenty of work to do to avoid relegation.

COBRA on the silverware trail after booking place in final

COBRA stayed in sight of some silverware this season after booking their ticket for the final of the North Wales Plate with a comfortable 37-3 passage at Rhyl.

It was a good week for the Meifod men who also maintained their promotion push in the North Wales League division two (north) with a 58-14 mauling of lowly Llandudno in their latest league action.

And they should be assured of second spot should they defeat their main promotion rivals Llandudno at home this Saturday. They are 14 points clear of the seaisiders who have two games in hand.

Despite having a few key players missing last weekend, they proved too strong for hosts Rhyl and underlined their superiority with four of their five tries coming in the second half.

Winger Richard Jones led the way with a brace of touchdowns, while second row Jack Jukes crossing twice, along with scrum half Alwyn Williams, back row Richard Rees, replacement No8 Dorian Lloyd, captain and No8 Aled Davies and winger Richard Jones. Llew Williams weighed in with seven conversions and three penalties.

Meanwhile, COBRA II are also looking good for some silverware after they edged out Rhayader 35-32 in the semi-final of the Mid Wales Cup. In the final, they will now meet Abersystwyth University on Saturday, April 27.

WELSHPOOL failed to halt the men of Harlech as they went down 30-6 on the North Wales coast in a blustery North Wales League division three (north) clash.

With a strong wind at their backs in the first half, Pool enjoyed the bulk of territory and possession but lacked the cutting edge and all they had to show for their efforts was a couple of penalties from Daley Jones.

Harlech, who had their backs to the wall for much of the time in the first half, managed a try from one of their few forays, as well as penalty to lead 8-6 at the interval.

And with the elements in their favour after the break, they turned the tables on their Mid Wales rivals to run out convincing winners.

Once they made it 16-6, the writing was on the wall for Pool although the 30-6 final score was a little harsh on their visitors for all their determined defence. In all, Harlech ran in four tries to gain a bonus point, as well as kicking two penalties and two conversions

After two defeats, Pool were looking to get back to winning ways this week when they welcomed Flint last night (wed) before hosting Menai Bridge on Saturday.

Morda are back on top after convincing win at FC Hodnet

TITLE-chasing Morda United returned to the top of the Mercian Regional League premier division with a convincing 3-0 victory at FC Hodnet.

After suffering a couple of cup setbacks, the Weston Road men bounced back to keep their league challenge on track, and in the process secure their eighth successive away victory.

They dominated the first half against one of the league's leading teams, and took the lead as early as the eighth minute when Shin Miah found the net with a left footed free kick from the edge of the box.

Within four minutes the lead was doubled when Marc Griffiths fired home with a low shot after being found by Kevin McGarvey.

Reserves relegation battle goes on after home defeat

DESPITE taking the lead on the half hour through Ryan Jones, Morda reserves finally succumbed 3-1 at home to Brown Clee as their relegation concerns in the Mercian Regional League division one continue.

The bulk of the early play saw Morda pegged in their own half for much of the time, but central defender Chris Carswell, donning the gloves to solve the club's goal-keeping crisis, was seldom troubled.

The hosts then began to challenge the Clee defence with Ryan Kenny twice thwarted by the offside flag, but the flag remained down on the half hour when Ryan Jones ran through and finished neatly to put Morda one up.

Brown Clee came back into the game when defender Dave Martin hit the equaliser when curling in a lob from the corner of the box, and livewire striker Dan Porter then put the visitors ahead with a low shot.

The young Morda side, however, stuck to their task and Kenny drew two fine saves from the visiting keeper, while Josh Hudson battled well in midfield, and Mikey Jones marshalled his defence effectively.

Unfortunately, they were unable to convert their efforts into goals and the visitors got a third when Dan Conroy fired in a penalty after being brought down in the box. On Saturday, Morda look for much needed points when they travel to face Clee Hill United.

Shock as Lions are thumped at Juniors

THE Oswestry Lions suffered a shock setback in their promotion quest from the Meridian Regional League premier division when they crashed 5-2 at rock bottom Wrockwardine Wood Juniors.

A dreadful surface soon proved a leveller as the Lions went behind after five minutes when managing to turn the ball into their own net from a home free kick.

However, they got back on terms within minutes as Tom Jones was brought down in the box and Graham Dyke put the spot kick away.

At this stage the Lions looked comfortable and were unlucky not to take the lead when Ben Williams latched on to a Gary Windsor corner only to see the home keeper tip his header over the bar.

But the resulting corner, again from Windsor, saw striker Graham Dyke rise and head the ball past the helpless keeper to give his side the lead.

Captain Ollie Jones then saw his goal bound shot brilliantly tipped round the post, which was to prove a key moment as the hosts punted the ball forward and saw their striker fire in the equaliser, and then went ahead with a scrambled goal just before half time.

Conditions

The second half saw the Lions pick up the tempo but still struggled with the surface and an unpredictable referee.

Midway through the half, the home side scored their fourth after a Lions defensive slip and shortly after they managed a fifth, yet again scrambled home, after they had failed to deal with a free kick.

Manager Nick Maguire was very upset with his side's display but agreed the conditions were hard to play their usual game, but was looking for his side to bounce back against Clee Hill at Shrewsbury Sports village this week as they bid for a place in the league cup final.

On Saturday, the Lions are away at Rock Rovers to the Venue (3pm) for a crunch promotion clash.

● After a lengthy spell without any league action, second bottom WESTON RHYN finally return to the pitch on Saturday with a crunch clash at Oakengates as they battle for survival in the premier division.

Castle beat Boys Club

OSWESTRY Boys Club succumbed 3-0 at mid-table rivals Bishop's Castle in the Meridian Regional League division one.

First half goals from Wayne Edwards and manager Andrew Green gave Castle a two-goal interval lead, before Matt Jones settled the issue.

Playing their first game in five months, Oswestry Boys under-13s ran out comfortable 6-2 winners against Nesscliffe Juniors in the Shropshire Junior League.

Brandon Rogers opened the scoring on 10 minutes. William Baker made it two before Matty Cooper tapped in the third.

Rogers headed in another corner shortly before half time but Nesscliffe scored one before the break.

Midway through the second half Rogers completed his hat-trick with a neat finish before Curtis Westman got a well deserved goal.

Montgomery's hopes boosted by two wins

MONTGOMERY still are hanging onto the coat-tails of leaders Llanidloes Town in the race for the Spar Mid Wales League division one crown after pulling off two crucial wins, writes John Bridgwater.

After their 6-0 beating of Four Crosses, Clive McNamee's side followed that up with a 4-1 home verdict over one time leaders Builth Wells courtesy of two goals apiece from Elliot Jones and Rhidian Morris to keep the title race alive.

Despite those victories, third placed Monty still trail leaders Llanidloes by 10 points, but they have two games in hand, and also have to play the Daffs again.

Llani are still sitting pretty at the top, but were made to work hard for their 1-0 win at home to struggling Dyffryn Banw, Gareth Mansell getting the game's only goal with a first half penalty in his side's sixth win on the trot.

A few days before, Llani were pushed all the before before maintaining their title quest with 2-1 verdict over Berriew, thanks to goals in each half from Richie Evans and Mansell, with another penalty.

FOUR CROSSES halted their slump with a much needed 5-3 win at Bow Street, with Alex Gunn getting two of the goals, and the return of Paul Bache in the centre of midfield after a long lay-off making a significant difference.

"After the last three results, it was important to get a win, and also show the right attitude," said boss Nick Popky.

After trailing to an early goal from Stuart

Fraser, they rallied with Gunn getting his head to a Matty Jones corner, while good work by Jones then teed up Ryan Morris who planted his 30-yarder into the net.

After the break, Gunn's neat through ball released Jack Harris who made no mistake but Mike Gornall revived Bow Street with a super free kick.

Gunn restored the two goal cushion with his second of the game, and Bache found the net when turning Gunn's shot into the net, before Fraser grabbed a consolation and his second with a dubious penalty after Mattie Davies went down in the box.

It was a good response from Four Crosses who just a few days before had suffered a 6-0 drubbing at Montgomery whose Tom Evans and Elliot Jones both scored twice, with Rhidian Morris and Josh Evans getting the others.

BERRIEW are also looking good for a top five finish after their 2-1 home verdict over Aberaeron with goals from Keiran Groves and Rob Pritchard, the visitors pulling one back at the end with a penalty.

There were plenty of goals as LLANSANTFFRAID VILLAGE drew 4-4 at mid-table rivals Tywyn Brynrcrug WELSHPOOL's improved fortunes came to an end as they slipped to a 1-0 home loss to Carno.

But fourth placed WATERLOO ROVERS had no such problems as they swamped struggling Newbriw 7-0, Steve Hole continuing his productive season with a brace.

New Saints show their class as Airbus are ripped apart

FOOTBALL

by John Bridgwater

THE Welsh Premier title may be safely in the bag, but the New Saints were in no mood to relax their grip as they eased to victory against one of the main challengers for runners-up spot.

Two first half goals from top scorer Mike Wilde, taking his league tally to 22 for the season, put the Saints on course an emphatic win that exposed the gulf in class between the newly crowned champions and the pack on their own Park Hall surface.

"The first half was the best we've played all season," said head coach Carl Darlington after the Saints marked their last home outing of the campaign in style.

"We ripped them apart, our movement and work on and off the ball was phenomenal, and had we been five or six up at half time, then they couldn't have had any complaints.

"Airbus came out for the second half trying to regain some pride, and we did not start the half as well as we would have liked but, apart from a 15-minute spell, we were in total control, and always looked comfortable."

The Airbus players and management gave the newly crowned champions a guard of honour before kick-off, but the Saints were not prepared to stand on ceremony as they stormed forward right from the first whistle - with three goals coming in the first 23 minutes.

The Oswestry hosts were ahead after just eight minutes when Scott Ruscoe was fouled on the edge of the box, and winger Ryan Fraughan's free kick took a massive deflection off the wall before looping over despairing keeper Jamie Stephens.

That advantage was doubled 10 minutes later as a neat cut back from Chris Jones was met by Wilde who tapped in from close range, and the former Chester man added his second in the 23rd minute when heading in from close range after further good work by Jones to leave the Saints in complete control.

Three goals up, the champions were in no mood to ease off the gas, with a great ball from Fraughan moments later setting up Wilde who spurned a golden chance for a quickfire hat-trick.

Top scorer Wilde almost made it four just before half time, but Stephens in the Airbus goal did well to keep out his close range header with a fine one handed save.

Having been almost out of sight at half time, the Saints were given a jolt four minutes after the restart when Ian Kearney headed one back for the Wingmakers from Glenn Rule's cross.

Undaunted, the Oswestry hosts continued to push with Chris Jones again going close with a curling effort from the edge of the box while Jamie Mullan also tried his luck from distance.

Screamer

However, the Saints got their fourth on 67 minutes when left back Chris Marriott drove home a low angled shot from the edge of the box that gave Stephens little chance.

Coasting to victory, TNS rang the changes with Alex Darlington and Greg Draper replacing Fraughan and Chris Seargent respectively.

Chris Jones nearly made it five after a good ball from Wilde but Airbus showed why they are challenging for runners-up spot as Michael Roddy pulled one back nine minutes from time with a 25-yard screamer that flew into the top corner to give the scoreline a more respectable look.

Cross Foxes come behind to grab place in cup final

CROSS Foxes came from behind to beat Malpas 3-2 after extra time to reach the final of the Roche North Shropshire Sunday League Cup.

Mike Williams gave Malpas a 43rd minute lead with a fine 30 yard free kick, but Jack Hughes levelled for the Foxes early in the second half. That's how it stayed before Adam Herbert put the Foxes ahead in the first half of extra time when converting a Matthew Hardy cross.

Malpas levelled in the first minute of the second half of extra time when Andy Morris pounced on a goalkeeping error.

With a penalty shootout looking likely, a clearance from George Hughes found Carl Harris who ran with the ball, collided with the Malpas keeper but managed to hook the ball in for the winner. In the final, Cross Foxes will meet THE OAK who beat ATHLETICO MARKET 6-2 in an incident packed game which saw both teams finish with 10 men. Dave Hartshorn gave the Oak a first half lead, and Liam Williams made it 2-0 from the spot early in the second half.

Karl Bailey pulled one back for the Market before Mark Dutton restored the Oak's two goal cushion, before the Oak then had Williams sent off for violent conduct.

Sub Nick Davies then scored for the Market but Shin Miah made it 4-2 to the Oak.

Market were then reduced to 10 men themselves following the sending off of Liam Bailey for a second yellow card. Hartshorn and Craig Southern finished off the Market with late goals. In the league, DUDLESTON HEATH thrashed 10-man IRONWORKS 18-1. There were hat tricks for Ben Slawson, Connor Pitcher and Guy Guilford, with Craig Mapp and Lewis Alder both grabbing two. Ashley Thomas, Stuart Williams, Kenny Griffiths, Scott Penrose and Bradley Holmes also found the net, with George Turner scoring for Ironworks.

COBRA on the brink of getting promoted

COBRA look to complete their season's mission of promotion to division one of the North Wales rugby league when they host main rivals Llandudno on Saturday.

The Meifod men go into the clash as firm favourites, lying in second spot behind leaders Denbigh, and 14 points clear of the Seaside who still have two games in hand.

COBRA have been impressive in the past week, hammering Llandudno 58-14 in the second division followed by last week's 37-3 win at Rhyl to reach the final of the North Wales Plate.

"Saturday is a massive game, this is our season," said coach Matt Griffiths. "Promotion has been our aim since day one, and victory on Saturday would do it."

Centres Iwan Vaughan and Frazier Roberts both face checks on dead legs as does Lloyd Bright, but they should be fit.

COBRA have been pushing for promotion in the last couple of seasons, and Griffiths feels the time is right to step up a division.

"We now need a new challenge in a higher league," he added. "There are two or three good sides in the this league, but after that there is no-one really to push you. "Although we still need a couple of players in key positions, the team we have got now the strongest it has been for some time."

"It is a quite young side which has been getting better year on year and the forwards in particular have been immense they are a good group of players, everyone gets on well."

COBRA will meet either Llandudno or Bala in the North Wales Plate final at Colwyn Bay on Saturday, May 18, while the second team meet Aberystwyth University in the final of the Mid Wales Cup on Saturday, April 27.

Ranking joy for young runner

YOUNG Maldwyn Harrier Joseph Crutchley's fine 2012/13 cross-country season has been recognised with a third place end-of-season ranking by running "bible" Athletics Weekly.

The North Wales cross-country champion achieved his under-13 boys ranking thanks to an excellent UK Inter Counties showing in which he finished in third place.

Ben off to a flyer as car gets new colour scheme

MID Wales driver Ben Power showed off a spectacular new colour scheme, produced by a top US designer, on the opening day of the 2013 UK National Legends Car Championship at Oulton Park in Cheshire.

Power, from Guilsfield, near Welshpool, called on American graphic artist Jamie Pfeifer to come up with a design using the distinctive red and black of sponsor Guttercrest, and in-keeping with the retro look of the car.

And on its debut, the new-look car performed well, taking third place in heat one and in the final, but getting shunted out of contention in the second race while trying to avoid an incident.

The results were especially impressive, as Power had to curtail his practice on Friday when the differential blew.

Pfeifer is himself an accomplished racing driver – based in California for many years, he now lives in Missouri and still races in historic events.

"We wanted to use red, black and white, but were struggling for a way to make it work," said Power, who ended fourth in the final championship table last season – his best-ever finish in the hotly-contested series.

Ben Power's car in its new colour scheme

"Jamie was recommended to us, and did a great job. He's a professional graphic artist, but with decades of racing experience, he also understands the lines and shape of a car – and that was vital in getting this just right.

"It's a really striking design that attracted a lot of attention on its debut. Unfortunately, the racing was so frantic, we suffered a bit of damage, but that's just the way it goes when the racing is so close."

Pfeifer, who represented the USA in several international stock car events, said: "I was really pleased to get involved with this project. I was able to come up with some initial ideas and then we developed the favourite to the version that will be seen on the car at the races."

"It's great to know that Ben has started the season well. I look forward to catching some of the action online and hopefully on TV."

Last season was the best ever for the Welshpool and Oswestry-based Guttercrest team. Power, now aged 23, recorded his first race wins in Legends Cars, and for a while he was second in the championship behind long-time leader and now champion Lawrence Davey, from East Sussex.

TNS GOING AFTER A POINTS RECORD

THE title race may be done and dusted, but The New Saints have been challenged to win the Welsh Premier with their biggest points margin.

The Saints wrapped up their seventh title a fortnight ago, but head coach Carl Darlington – this week named manager of the month for March – insists the Oswestry side are determined to open up as big a gap as possible at the top.

After Tuesday night's hard fought 1-0 win at Carmarthen, they are 19 points clear with two games to play – both away at Prestatyn on Saturday and Bangor City the following week.

"The biggest margin the club have won the league is 18 points, so we're still trying to better that," said Darlington. "It will be difficult, but we will be doing our utmost to win our last two games and see where it takes us. As well as playing for pride we're also playing for place in the club's record books."

"If we can finish the season well, it will set us up nicely for the Champions League in the summer."

Striker Mike Wilde, this

by John Bridgwater

week named the Welsh Premier's player of the month for March, added another goal to his burgeoning tally to help The New Saints to their victory at Carmarthen.

The club's 30-year-old top scorer made light of a testing surface to head home the only goal of the game 10 minutes from time, to take his league tally to 23 for the season and stay on course for the league's golden boot.

Carmarthen, the last side to defeat TNS in the league back on November 24, made the leaders battle all the way on a bobbly surface at Richmond Park, with Paul Fowler firing wide from a good chance.

Chris Jones was off target with a couple of early efforts for the visitors, while Kai Edwards headed just over, but the state of the pitch limited chances.

However, the champions looked the more likely to make the breakthrough in the second half, with Wilde forcing keeper Stephen Cann into a superb save, and the keeper also denied a shot from Jamie Mullan at his near post, while Edwards had his shot cleared off the line by Nicky Palmer.

Wilde ended the frustration when heading in from a corner on 80 minutes, while sub Scott Quigley could have doubled the lead when he went through on goal late on but was denied by Cann.

Tuesday night was the fifth meeting between the sides this season, one of which came in the league cup final that Carmarthen won on penalties, while TNS beat the Old Gold 3-0 at Park Hall just a few weeks back to seal the league crown.

MORDA United look to stay one step ahead in the Mercian Regional League premier division when they travel to fourth placed Telford Juniors on Saturday.

Craig Rogers men returned to the summit with last week's 3-0 win at FC Hodnet.

Their main rivals for the title are third placed AFC Ludlow who lie four points adrift of the leaders, but have a game in hand. The main headache for Rogers is the goalkeeping situation, with first choice Sam Jones out with a broken finger.

The club have been trying to bring in a replacement, but Llanhaeadr's Lee Davies possible switch was hit by a snag over international clearance.

WELSHPOOL Town again proved a hard nut to crack with another clean sheet when drawing 0-0 at Aberystwyth University in their rearranged Spar Mid Wales League division one clash.

Drawing inspiration from rubbing shoulders with football legends in their day out at the Sky Soccer Saturday last weekend, Pool took that performance forward with a resilient showing against the students on Tuesday night.

Meanwhile, Mike Booth, making his debut after a season with the reserves, scored twice as WATERLOO ROVERS eased to a 7-0 win at Newbridge to maintain their push for a top five finish.

Winning start for Atherton bike pair

THERE was a tremendous start to the season for local riders Gee and Rachel Atherton who helped Team GT Factory Racing sweep the board in their opening action in the British Downhill Mountain Biking Series.

The Atherton duo, who live near Oswestry, took the honours in both the mens and womens elite in the first round of the series in energy sapping conditions at Combe Sydenham in Somerset.

The British Downhill Series (BDS) has the top 300 riders in the UK plus a sprinkling of international stars in the field.

Gee won the mens elite in two minutes, 42.049 seconds, more than two seconds ahead of runner-up Matt Simmonds (Chain Reaction Cycles) in 2:44.168. Team-mate Mark Beaumont (of GT Factory Racing) was edged into third in 2:44.265.

Rachel led the way in claggy mud to win the womens elite in 3:06.025 following a courageous run, seeing off defending champion Manon Carpenter (Madison Saracen) in convincing manner by 8.2 seconds.

In the men's elite, last year's winner Beaumont missed Matt Simmonds by a mere 0.1 of a second to finish third before Gee tore down the hill to put two seconds into everyone.

Ladies are champions

A THRILLING finish saw Welshpool Ladies Hockey Club crowned North Wales League division one champions.

Level on points with Powys rivals Newtown at the start of the day, Pool put the title firmly in their grasp with a crushing 8-0 win at Llandudno, but faced an anxious wait to discover whether Newtown could deprive them of their crowning glory on goal difference.

However, Newtown failed to score enough goals despite winning 8-1 against Rhyl.

Caroline Jones and Ceri Chapman both fired hat-tricks, with Cerys Bills and Lucy Davies also on target in their side's 12th, and most important, win of the season.
